Oxly Boy Struck By Car

OXLY — A 10-year-old boy is in critical condition in Doctors Hospital, Poplar Bluff, after being struck by a car Sunday in Oxly.

The mishap occurred, the highway patrol said, when Jeffery Jackson, 10, of Oxly, walked in front of a westbound 1968 Ford driven by Jay R. Pearce, 49, of Caruthersville.

The accident occurred at 2:25 p.m.

Two Houses Burglarized

BENTON — The John Mayfield house, route one, five miles east of here, was burglarized Friday. afternoon, between 3 and 4 p.m. according to Scott County Sheriff John Dennis.

Taken were a television set and a single-shot rife. Dennis said entrance was gained by forcing open a door.

Also on Friday afternoon, the home of Sam Menz, route two, Chaffee, was burglarized.

Taken were two violins, one valued at $1,000. Other items were taken, Dennis said. The estimated value of the stolen goods was about $2,000. Dennis said entrance was gained by forcing open a door.

Dennis said he didn't know if the crimes were connected. But he said it is common in the spring for thieves to go from house to house searching for an open door.

Charges Filed After Arrest

Billy Joe Wilson and his brother Daniel Wilson, both of Chaffee, were booked over the weekend for cashing bad checks and possession of dangerous drugs.

Both men were taken into custody Friday accused by police of cashing a bogus check for $85 at P.N. Hirsch on East Malone.

Police announced 10 other arrests over the weekend.

They include Alvin Myers, Jr. of 224 Petroleum, for disturbing the peace; and Robert Farris, Jr. of 908 Tanner St., for disturbing the peace.

Charles A. Thornton, Box 415, Wyatt, for disorderly conduct. Clay Fay Graham, Blodgett, for assault and battery and destroying public property. Victor William of 226 Dixie St. for assault and battery.

David Lee Campbell of 224 N. Handy, for speeding. Eugene Goins of Commercial, Ill., for disturbing the peace. Thomas Sever of Chaffee for running a stop light. Jimmie Allen Cornell of Chaffee for careless and imprudent driving. Gregory Jerome Foote of Bertrand for careless and imprudent driving.

Man Held In $500 Holdup

CHARLESTON — Herbert Hadley Burbaker, 59, of Grand Rivers, Ky., was arrested at 9 a.m. Sunday and is being held for investigation of armed robbery in connection with the Saturday night robbery of Stader's Highway Market on East Marshall street, according to Sheriff W. J. "Padro" Sommons.

Benjamin Whitehead, an employe of the market, said a man entered the store at 7 p.m. Saturday wearing a stocking over his face and sunglasses. He held a gun on Whitehead and demanded money from the sash register. Approximately $500 in cash was taken.

Simmons said today Burbaker also was being held on a warrant for armed robbery from Graves County, Ky. authorities. Charges of having no operator's permit and burglary tools in possession may be filed by Mississippi County authorities.

Juvenile Questioned On Fires

CHARLESTON — Juvenile Officer Gordon Galemore said this morning he is questioning a 14-year-old juvenile in connection with three fires at the Charleston Auction Company on West Marshall street.

The latest fire occurred at 6:35 p.m. Sunday. A small hay storage building was destroyed. Other fires on Feb. 4, and March 12 resulted in minor damage to hay sheds.

Other reappointments included.

Howard Taylor of Dexter to the state Soil and Water Districts Commission.

Lanora Blankenship of Cape Girardeau to the state Board of Cosmetology.

Dr. Sam C. Chapman of Liberty to the state Board of Optometry.

Welfare Work-Requirement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Russell B. Long says he is shaping a welfare work-requirement plan which the Finance Committee is expected to substitute for President Nixon's welfare-reform program.

The Louisiana Democrat, the committee chairman, said its members are crystalizing their ideas on the substitute after lengthy consideration of the issue.

"I think that we will have about six good ways that we can increase the income of people who ought to be working to help improve their own conditions," he said today in an interview for broadcast in Louisiana.

"We will provide job opportunities for them; we will provide tax advantages for them if they will take the job; we will provide tax incentives for people who will hire them; we will provide training opportunities," Long said.

Measure To Remove Tax Limit

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — John Vaughn, state budget director, says he will ask the Missouri Senate Appropriations Committee to introduce a measure to remove an appropriation limit of $20 million to provide state income tax refunds.

If the lid remains, Vaughn said, many Missourians will have to wait until after the start of the fiscal year in July to receive refunds.

Sen. Donald Manford, D-Kansas City, defends the lid imposed last year, saying it provides better accountability for the funds and $20 million seemed the best estimate at the time.

Vaughn contends about $13 million additional is needed to make all the refunds.

Door Broken By Youth

Police arrested a juvenile Saturday night for breaking down a door to a home owned by Joe Ryan at 615 Cleveland.

The youth told police he had been staying there seven or eight days. He said a door was usually left open but it was locked so he broke in the back door with his shoulder.

When police found him he was holding a hammer in his hand. The youth told police he was trying to repair the damage.

Ryan, who has been away from home due to illness, told police he did not know the youth was staying at his house.

Better Driving Conditions

A SIX-INCH BUMP was leveled this morning by the street department. Street Superintendent Bill Stokes, standing left, directs Edgar Lee Marshal, driving front loader, in removing the conceret incline at 420 West North street. The bump originated at an old railroad crossing next to Baber Feed and Seed Co. The railroad ties which were buried under the pavement have been removed to eliminate future problems. Floyd Greer, hidden behind Stokes and Louis White, right, helped remove the old concrete.

Court Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today agreed to reconsider the "hypertechnical requirements" of the 1966 Miranda decision limiting use of confessions at criminal trials.

The court acted at the request of Philadelphia prosecutors who asked for re-examination in light of the 1968 Federal Crime Control law, which eased rules against confessions for federal trials.

The case, to be heard next term, concerns a Philadelphia man, Paul D. Ware, who confessed in 1963 to the slaying of four elderly people. The Miranda ruling barred use of the statement by the time he was ready for trial.

There was no elaboration from the court as it announced it would hear the appeal. Therefore, the extent to which the Miranda decision will be reevaluated will not be completely clear until the case is argued.

In other action, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger encouraged states to make it a crime to show explicitly sexy movies at drive-in theaters whose screens are visible to teen-agers and other passers-by.

Burger presented his view as the court upset the obscenity conviction of a Washington state drive-in owner on ground that the law under which he was convicted did not put drive-ins in a special category.

The court also:

—Ruled that college students seeking the right to register as voters in their college campus towns must fight their legal battles as individuals, not as a group.

—Refused without comment to stay the enforcement of a California supreme court ruling that the death penalty violates the state constitution.

—Agreed to decide if it is legal for labor unions to fine members who quit during a strike and return to their jobs.

—Agreed to rule on the legality of the so-called "four installment" rule adopted by the Federal Reserve Board to protect consumers against hidden finance charges. The rule requires that when a sale involves more than four installments, the contract must disclose the total purchase price, the balance due after the initial payment and all additional charges.

—Declined to rule on laws that make certain kinds of sex acts a crime, even when performed in private by husband and wife.

—Turned down an appeal by New Orleans District Atty. Jim Garrison to block a $5 million damage suit brought against him by Clay L. Shaw, who was prosecuted unsuccessfully by Garrison on charges on conspiracy in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. Shaw said he should be immune from the suit because he was acting in his official capacity as district attorney.

At a minimum, the court will take another look at a cutoff date applying the Miranda decision. However, the court may be urged to go beyond that.

In a 5 to 4 Miranda ruling, the court prohibited trial use of criminal confessions unless the person making the confession was offered a lawyer and warned that anything he said could be used against him.

Hearnes Appoints Ferrell

Bill Ferrell

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes today announced the appointment of Bill Ferrell, route two, Sikeston, to the State Goals for Missouri Commission.

Ferrell is a deputy sheriff and owner of the Ferrell Auto Salvage Co. He is the president of the Missouri State Young Democrats Clubs.

He is the son of Frank Ferrell, Sikeston businessman.

The purpose of the commission, according to Hearnes, is to provide suggestions for improving the responsiveness of state government to the people.

Ferrell said he will attend the first meeting of the commission March 29 in Jefferson City.

Bills Coming Up

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Down by the riverside in Missouri's capitol, this is a week for thousands of school kids to swarm in and watch legislators get increasingly frantic as time runs out on their bills.

Both houses plan to resume debate on their own bills when the House reconvenes at 3 p.m. and the Senate an hour later.

But it's a pretty futile gesture. Unless a bill has some kind of steam behind it, a bill still in the House where it originated stands little chance of passage at this late date. The 1972 session has only six weeks to go before its April 30 adjournment.

Ready for passage in the Senate is a bill to consider a driver intoxicated when the alcohol level in his blood eaches .10 of 1 per cent. The present standard is .15 of 1 per cent.

Also up for passage is a socalled income tax reform bill to make Missouri definitions fit federal law. That would increase individual exemptions from $500 this year to $1,500 and to $2,000 next year.

Seven bills down on the House's priority calendar for debates is a bill to increase the state gasoline tax 2 cents a gallon to 7 cents. Such a bill passed last year but was vetoed by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes.

The first bill on the House priority list would set up a fire prevention union in the highway patrol to do the same job proposed in state fire marshal bills which have been consistently killed over the years.

Spending To Be Discussed

The city traffic committee will meet at 7:30 p.m. tonight at the city administrative building on North New Madrid.

The agenda will include two items forwarded to the committee by the city council. They are the problem of speeders on Wakefield and making Ford one way from Sunset Drive to Alabama Street.

Grass Fire On Car Lot

Firemen were called to a grass fire at 1 p.m. Saturday on South Ranney Street behind the Goza-Harper automobile lot. Firemen said the fire was caused by burning trash. No damage was done.

Boy Stricken

NEW MADRID — Jimmy Henderson, 15, son of Shirley Henderson, had emergency surgery early today at Baptist Hospital in Memphis after being stricken about 6 30 p.m. Sunday with a cerebra hemmorhage.

Seven Seek City Council Posts
Election Tomorrow

Sikeston voters will have the opportunity tomorrow to narrow the field of city council candidates from seven to four.

This is the second primary in two years for the council. Last year 13 candidates fought for right to meet in the general election. In that primary only 244 votes were cast. City officials are making no predictions on tomorrows turnout.

City ordinance requires that no more than two candidates for each seat can run in the general election. This year two seats are being contested, so three candidates must be weeded from the field before the general election April 4.

Candidates seeking voter approval are W. A. Alliston who is an employe of Missouri Utilities; Incumbant Kenneth Bridger, owner of Bridger Plumbing and Heating, Co.; Virginia M. Waters, who is a housewife and political science student at Southeast Missouri State College in Cape Girardeau.

Theon Grojean, who is an engineer and a former city council member; Bill Ryan of the Ryan Construction Co., who is making his first try for office. Eulalane Morris, is the wife of Jesse Morris, business agent for Carpenters Union Local 618, and Frank Ferrell is a businessman and a member of the Sikeston Industrial Development Commission.

All candidates seek three-year terms.

Citizens may vote from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. in their precinct. Ballot boxes for ward one precinct one are at the old police station; for precinct two at Ethridge Tire Company.

For ward two, precinct one residents may vote at Sonny Presley Chevrolet; for precinct two, voters should go to Lincoln school.

For ward three, precinct one ballot boxes will be at fire station one; for precinct two, at the Lewis Furniture store.

Ballot boxes for ward four will be at the Armory for precinct one and the Imperial Bowling Lanes for precinct two.

This morning, 10 absentee ballots had been cast. Voters have until 4:30 p.m. today to cast absentee ballots. The ballots will be opened and counted tomorrow.

Illinois Primary

CHICAGO —(AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie is campaigning for a comeback in Illinois, while Eugene J. McCarthy and Sen. George McGovern seek votes in hopes of dealing a double blow to the Democratic presidential campaign of the demoted front-runner from Maine.

The three Democratic rivals campaigned across the state today in the windup of the third heat of the presidential primary season, with Muskie in need of big victories in a pair of contests.

He faces McCarthy Tuesday in a presidential preference vote which is not binding, and McGovern in a complex delegate selection contest which is.

The voters will be choosing 160 of Illinois' 170 delegates to the Democratic National Convention, by far the biggest crop of nomination votes at stake in early season primary contests.

At least half the delegates are expected to remain beyond the reach of either Muskie or McGovern. They will be elected from uncommitted slates controlled by the Democratic organization of Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley.

The presidential rivals are not bucking the mayor in his Chicago domain. Neither entered delegates in five city congressional districts where 56 will be elected. One of the delegate candidates will be Daley himself.

McGovern is running 104 delegate candidates in 19 of the state's 24 congressional districts. Muskie's organization has endorsed 105 delegate candidates in 17 districts, although there are 161 Democrats on the ballot listed as committed to the Maine senator.

There is no preference primary on the Republican side, but GOP voters will be asked to endorse 48 Republican National Convention delegates. All are committed to President Nixon except for seven who are running uncommitted.

McCarthy has concentrated his $250,000 campaign, which features a big television advertising push, on the preferential contest. It is his first campaign of 1972, and if he can't make a substantial showing, it could be his last.

At a fund raising dinner Sunday at suburban Wood Dale, Muskie decried the increasing split in Democratic ranks. He warned that Democratic voters "do not have the luxury of voting their prejudices in March if they want a responsible choice of nominees in November."

Muskie came to Illinois after a damaging, fourth-place finish in Florida last Tuesday, where he gained 9 per cent of the vote.

And the Gallup Poll reported Sunday that Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey now leads Muskie, 35 to 28 per cent, as the preference of Democrats for the 1972 nomination. The poll was taken between March 3 and March 5.

McGovern's campaign is in need of some political repairs, too, after a far-back finish in Florida, where the South Dakotan maged only 6 per cent of the vote and trailed Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York, the candidate he had most hoped to outpoll.

Two Races At Benton

Incumbent Mayor R.B. Woods has filed for re-election with no opposition.

City Collector Ruth Nichols has filed for re-election with no opposition.

There will be no opposition for Ward One Alderman Leon Brown and Ward Two Alderman Willard Adams.

Woman Hurt In Collision

According to police, the accident occurred when an automobile driven by Luther Dodd of Morehouse pulled out into Main from Virginia and into the Mason car.

No arrests were made according to police.

Grojean Candidate For Council Seat

Theon F. Grojean

Theon F. Grojean, 113 West Wakefield, is a candidate for the Sikeston City Council.

A native of Scott County, Grojean has lived in Sikeston for 23 years and is associated with Grojean Engineers, 301 South Main. He is a registered professional engineer.

Grojean, 47, previously served on the City Council in 1960-62. Additionally, he is a former member of the Planning Commission, citizens advisory council for the Board of Education, and Jaycees.

He served as a lieutenant in the Air Force and was a pilot during World War II. He attended Southeast Missouri State College and received a degree in civil engineering from the University of Missouri at Rolla. He is a member of the National Society of Professional Engineers and the Missouri Society of Professional Engineers. He has served as secretary of the Southeast Missouri Contractors Assn.

Grojean is a member of the Exchange Club.

Regarding his candidacy, he has commented: " A growing city like Sikeston needs governance by qualified, knowledgeable people to assure orderly growth. Because of my previous experience on the City Council and other civic commissions, plus my professional knowledge, I feel I can be an asset to Sikeston in helping improve city government."

Grojean is the father of eight children, four boys and four girls. He is a member of St. Francis Xavier Church.

First Delta Council Board Session in Sikeston

The first official meeting of the Missouri Delta Council board of directors will take place Thursday at the Holiday Inn in Sikeston.

The meeting will commence at 4 p.m. with a recess from 5:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. for dinner and caucusing of nominating committees. Adoption of by-laws, election of officers and members of the executive committee and the determination of MDC's priority of activities will occur.

Five counties in the area, Dunklin, Mississippi, New Madrid, Pemiscot, and Scott, have elected their representatives to the board. One of the highlights of the board meeting here will be a membership report which is expected to show nearly 300 new members in 60 days.

The spokesman also stated that the membership represented a broad cross-section of interests from throughout the Delta area.

POPULATION CATASTROPHE?

Just what kind of catastrophe is a large population anyway? In the 15 years between 1945 and 1960 some 12 million people fled into West Germany. Rising living standards and production growth are creating an intense competition for labor among West German industrialists. This is so true that over and above the 12 million refugees, West Germany has had to employ the services of 2.5 million "guest-workers" from other European nations and Turkey.

In the United States 4 million babies were born last year. This brought in more than 3 billion dollars for the manufacturers of baby food, clothing, furniture, toys and accessories.

At the end of World War II Australia took in almost 1.5 million people from Europe. Its gross national product was about 5 billion dollars; but 10 years later it rose to 13 billion dollars. Reported Time magazine: "Projections of future populations are admittedly fictions. No one can actually predict future population, and anyone who claims he can is either a fool or a charlatan." (Sept. 13, 1971).

It is worth recalling that statistics are easily manipulated. The underdeveloped nations do not for the most part keep birth or death records. Nobody knows how many Chinese there are or what their present rate of increase is. The prophets of population catastrophe all to often are "miracle-workers" with statistics.

There is no optimum population as such. Whether we have 250 million people or 350 million people is less important than what the people decide to do about their problems.

KILLING THE GOOSE THAT LAYS THE GOLDEN EGG

While many of our elderly citizens will agree with Congressman Wilbur Mills' proposal to raise Social Security taxes to provide for a 20 per cent increase in benefits payments, the working employes and employers are beginning to protest further increase in S. S. tax to be taken out of their checks.

As an example of this protest, the National Federation of Independent Business finds that a substantial segment feel that the present Social Security administration should be scrapped and replaced with a different system.

Although it has always been taken as fact that greater benefits could not be paid from present Social Security income without endangering the actuarial stability of thyplan, Congressman Mills' disclosure that the surpluses in the fund are far more than needed to meet benefits under current schedules appears to refute this contention. However, there now appears to be a definite link between maintaining high Social Security reserves and minimizing the full extent of the Federal deficit.

While nominally Social Security taxes are set forth as a trust fund, in practice the payroll deductions by a circuit route go into the general funds. About seven or eight years ago, to achieve "simplified" Federal bookkeeping, the separation of the Social Security collections and payments as a separate entity was discontinued to budget purposes. Currently, all these taxes and payments are lumped into the general Federal budget.

For the coming fiscal year Social Security taxes will be estimated at $83.2 billion as against $27.5 billion paid out. Thus the estimated Federal budget would be somewhere around $36 billion instead of the announced $25.5 billion. The deficit for the year ending June 30, by the same token, will on a true basis probably be close to $45 billion rather than the previously announced $38.8 billion.

This is all due to the fact that the surplus in the Social Security funds are loaned to other government agencies which are eventually repaid out of monies from the general fund, or by selling new securities to the general public.

As it stands now, 25 per cent of the almost $450 billion Federal debt is owned by government agencies through their borrowing from the Social Security fund surpluses. The Federal Reserve System only has 16 per cent of this Federal debt.

Under the law Social Security funds can be invested by the authority of a single trustee, currently the Secretary of the Treasury, in special obligations of the U. S. Government.

The records show that as of June 30, 1969, slightly over $26 billion of the Social Security funds are invested. Of this total only slightly more than $7 billion was loaned out at interest rates of 5 per cent or more, with the remaining $19 billion earning interest ranging from 2.5 to 4.25 per cent.

Evidence obtained by the Federation indicates that a large share of the Social Security funds loaned out at low interest rates are used to finance cooperative and other government sponsored projects along social lines which do not offer securities with sufficient yield to interest the private investor.

Dr. Colin Campbell of Dartmouth has testified that Social Security is unfair to the young worker, and studies have established that based on present life expectancies, the average young man, or his wife, cannot possibly live long enough to have returned the amount collected from him and his employer if such deductions were to draw a minimum 4 per cent interest.

This conclusion was challenged by the head of the Social Security Administration who in doing so published for the first time that the payroll taxes taken from the employer are not credited to the employe but merely thrown into the general pot, making Social Security actually a welfare fund instead of an insurance plan.

We think it is time to ask our representatives in Congress some questions about Social Security -- and it is obvious that politics in its management will be killing the goose that lays the golden egg if this is not corrected.

SPACE SPY GETS THE DOPE

NASA may launch a NARC one f these days.

In spelled-out English, National Aeronautics and Space Administration may get into the narcotics detection business by means of a spy satellite ("Narc" is slang for a narcotics agent).

Scientists believe it should be possible to detect a field of opium poppies as small as 10 acres from an orbiting earth resources satellite, says Aviation Week & Space Technology magazine.

Spotting marijuana would be a little trickier, however. Unlike poppies, which require direct sunlight and are cultivated in large fields, marijuana can be raised anywhere and is frequently mixed with harmless plants.

To ferret it out, two-legged "narcs" will still be needed.

SIC TRANSIT KNAPSACK

It's happened. A town has been wiped off the map by pollution.

The village of Knapsack, near Cologne in West Germany, will soon cease to exist because of air pollution from nearby lignite works, Europe's largest phosphor factory, electricity works and other industries. Smog has made life increasingly unbearable if not dangerous in the village.

With the help of government funds, the last 2,500 residents out of a former population of 6,000 are packing up their troubles in their old kit bags and preparing to move to nearly completed homes and apartments in New Knapsack, located in a less-polluted area.

AS YOU MAKE YOUR BED . . .

First it was the water bed. Now it's the mud mattress.

No kidding. An engineer in Los Angeles has developed a mattress that works on the same principle as the water bed except that it's filled with mud. The principle is that a body floats more easily as water density increases, and since mud is twice as heavy as water, only half as much of the body sinks into it.

Next thing you know, somebody is going to take the principle a step further and develop a mattress made of steel springs inside some kind of cushioning material. They'll probably call it an innerspring mattress.

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is the golden lamp of life.

Its bright beams, reflected from the safe and changeless land of yesterday, light our steps along the troubled pathway of today and give us courage to dare the dangers of farther walks tomorrow.

You have a great store of recollections if you can remember when—

The average man saw no need for a two-bathroom house, a two-car garage—or a twomarriage life.

The only people who could afford to keep bankers' hours were bankers.

Folks put more faith in opportunity than in security.

You walked more often in mud in America than you did on concrete.

If you wanted something you hadn't inherited, you had to work for it to get it. No one expected the government to give it to him.

A doctor was so busy making house calls that he often found it difficult to keep regular office hours.

You met more eccentrics then than now because people had the strength and independence to be themselves instead of acting like each other.

It wasn't unusual for a baby to be born in the same bed that its great-grandfather had died in.

Anyone who had just one loaf of bread under his arm, not two, felt he had no justifiable reason to complain about life.

You could look at a boy and a girl walking arm in arm together and feel pretty sure which was which.

There was no place in town where you could buy a bottle of aspirin tablets except the drug store.

The biggest thrill in a little boy's life was getting iceskates with modern steel rather than wooden runners.

A nickel cup of coffee had just as much coffee in it as a 15-cent cup has today.

A young girl could take her grandmother to a movie without worrying whether the scenes or the language in it would offend the old girl.

The old people who had to end their days in an old folks' home were those who had no children.

Most families bought their groceries on credit during the week, and Father went to the store on Saturday night and paid the bill in full—with cash.

If a light was seen in your house after midnight, the neighbors would call up and ask if anyone was sick.

The biggest problem of the town policeman was to see that the town drunk got home without falling off the sidewalk and breaking his neck.

People tended to believe the best about each other, not the worst.

Those were the days—remember?

'NO BUSIN' GEORGE RUNS OVER MUSKIE

Senator Edmund S. Muskie must feel as if was hit by a bus today.

Alabama Gov. George Wallace, driving his "stop -the-busin' " campaign at top speed, not only defeated Muskie, Humphrey, McGovern, etal. He humiliated them.

After faltering in New Hampshire, Senator Muskie fell flat on his face in Florida Tuesday. He drew only a scrawny 9 per cent of the Democratic vote to finish a poor fourth behind second place finisher, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey and Sen. Henry M. (Scoop) Jackson in third place.

So Muskie is back with the rest of the pack today, fighting for survival. Hubert Humphrey, even though he was a distant second to Wallace, has moved into strong contention by polling more than twice as many votes as Muskie in Florida.

Senator Henry M. (Scoop) Jackson of Washington, a previous non-contender, now must be regarded as a serious candidate. He came in third, well ahead of Muskie and tail-enders Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York and Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota.

And George Wallace, anathema to Democratic liberals, may indeed have become a national candidate in the Democratic party. His capture of 75 of Florida's 81 delegates must send shivers up and down the spine of Larry O'Brien and other Democratic bigwigs who want Wallace anywhere but in the Democratic party.

What startled the Democrats was Wallace's rolling up 42 per cent of the vote (515,000), more than twice as many as his closest challenger, Humphrey (231,000).

Undoubtedly, Wallace's strong showing was largely due to his tough stand opposing school busing. Muskie, Humphrey, McGovern and Lindsay, by contrast, tried to straddle the issue and wound up being run over.

But Wallace also capitalized on the fact that Democratic liberals are out of touch with voters on the issues of big government and high taxes.

After his stupefying defeat, Muskie turned this rout even more sour by going on national television to denounce winner Wallace, as a demogogue of the worst kind and "a threat to the unity of this nation."

The "Sour Grapes" act even displeased Florida's liberal Democratic Governor Reubin Askew who pointed to the obvious slur against Florida voters. Old Democratic pros, Sen. Mike Mansfield and Hubert Humphrey, took recognition of Wallace's impressive win.

Wallace has little chance of winning the Democratic nomination but if he shows up well in northern state primaries and wins a number of primaries in southern and border states, he could go to the Democratic national convention with an impressive number of delegates, enough perhaps to put him in somewhat of a king-maker role at the convention. — Globe-Democrat.

LIGHT DRIZZLE MAKES DRIVING HAZARDOUS

"Hydroplaning on the highways is not an exciting outdoor sport," Piero Sierra, vice president, Pirelli Tire Corporation, warns.

A light drizzle or rainfall helps motor oil and gasoline residues congeal on the road and this water carpet, dubbed summer ice, can be as treacherous as authentic ice conditions in the winter. According to Mr. Sierra.

Describing the action, he said, "water is a natural lubricant to rubber. In the wet a film develops between the actual road surface and your car's tires. As a tire rotates (without traction) it pushes water ahead of it. Result: You end up riding a wave —hydroplaning— and, frequently, experience complete loss of vehicle control.

"A heavy or even a light rain," he says, "Should be taken as a warning to slow down. Motorists have to contend both with poor visibility and possible skid emergencies."

LABOR ACT CHANGE TO SPEED NLRB CASES CRITICIZED

Legislative proposals to expedite the procedures of the National Labor Relations Board, as contained in a bill (H.R.7152) to amend the Labor-Management Relations Act of 1947, would cause more problems than they would solve, the National Association of Manufacturers asserted.

Testifying before a subcommittee of the House Committee on Education and Labor, the NAM witness, Chas. G. Bakaly, Jr., said the proposed amendments would undermine confidence in the Board.

"The NAM shares the desire to expedite the processes of the Board," Mr. Bakaly said. "Our concern with the bill — and with any similar proposal — is twofold; Whether it will truly expedite the decision-making process; and, assuming that it will save time, whether efficiencies thus gained justify the possible losses in due process, fairness, consistency and visibility in the decision-making process."

Mr. Bakaly, a Los Angeles attorney, directed his major arguments against the section which would relieve the NLRB of its present statutory obligation to review the decisions of its trial examiners. If this amendment were enacted, the Board at its sole discretion could decline to review any decision of a trial examiner as to fact and law, and thus the examiner's order would become the order of the Board.

Noting that this proposal had been rejected previously by the Congress, the NAM witness said that elimination of the review procedure would deprive both labor and management of due process "in a very substantial degree and fundamental a manner."

The NAM also took exception to another amendment which would seek to hasten the enforcement of Board orders by hurrying them into the courts of appeal for enforcement decrees.

JEFFERSON WOULD BE PLEASED

The author of the Declaration of Independence, Thomas Jefferson, in a letter to his 15 year old nephew, wrote, "Let your gun be the constant companion of your walks." Drafting the Va. Constitution in 1776, Jefferson also wrote: "No free man shall ever be debarred the use of arms." Possession of firearms is one of the most fundamental traditions and rights of U.S. citizens. It is so closely interwoven with personal liberty under the Constitution that attempts to impose confiscatory regulatory measures on citizen gun ownership, if successful, could weaken the very fiber of U.S. representative government. In the futile campaign to curb crime by penalizing the law-abiding, the authors of oppressive gun controls have shown an unacceptable lack of contact with reality.

There are vast regions of the nation, from coast to coast, where people still depend on guns as a tool in business, as well as an instrument of sport. A survey of farmers from the Gulf Coast to the far Pacific Northwest and back to Michigan found that 93 per cent of agriculturists own guns -- usually 1 to 4 rifles, shotguns and handguns apiece. The guns are used to protect property, eliminate predatory or dangerous invaders, such as coyotes and rattlesnakes, and insure personal safety in areas where the forces of law are spread thinly.

The recent action of the U. S. Senate in approving the easing of regulations concerning sales of rifle and shotgun ammunition indicates a return to common sense in the matter of gun controls. Thomas Jefferson would be pleased.

SPRING AHEAD

Winter paralysis is about to pass. The blank clouds and numbing cold of the past few months have compounded our anxieties over the state of our government and social affairs, just as they do seasonally each year. During this winter we have seen our national political fortunes dip with the uncertainties of the presidential visit to Peking, the resulting dismay of Japan and our other allies, the disruption of monetary standards worldwide and the loss of foreign markets for our products. But hope springs eternal.

And a walk into the year on a good day or a short ride in the countryside is a tonic for the soul and the body. Nature, which went to sleep last fall, is showing signs of awakening. Blooms already are on some of the fruit trees. Dormant grass roots are beginning to turn green. It seems that nature somehow overcomes the mistakes of man who is in a constant state of destroying either the beauties of nature or his fellow man.

Mao's Bargain Rates: Peking to Pay Only $8 Million UN Dues. Angry Soviets Plan to Strangle It Financially

PARIS — It was Vladimir Ilyich Ulyanov, otherwise known as Lenin, who once muttered into his little beard that "the road to Paris is through Peking." For once he was right. But the bantam Bolshevik "father" didn't quite reckon that it would be the men of Yenan and not the commissars of the Kremlin who would get here first.

And nothing has infuriated the latter-day Leninists as much as Paris becoming the trading post for Peking and Washington. But Paris also is a listening post. Traditionally the French Communist party has been the signal-sender for coming Soviet tactics in the Western world--including the U.S., of course.

And from old friends here, who are not professional "spooks" but rather a political Michelin guide to Communist tactics, comes word that the Soviets now plan to paralyze whatever effectiveness is left in the United Nations and its affiliated organizations.

Thus the U.S.S.R. could stall communist mainland China from becoming rehabilitated, rationalized industrially, cleansed of disease, agriculturized so that it could develop more than the meager 20 per cent of the fields which now are arable, whip up huge cadres of skilled workers, and be brought into the modern world of work, all at virtually no cost, all by dint of work by scores of UN commissions.

The cost would be microconmic indeed. At the moment the People's Republic of China is being assessed about 4 per cent of the UN budget--or about $8 million a year.

Thus the Russians reckon the UN, according to Kremlin watchers here, is of greater use to the Communist Chinese than to any other nation. So the tactic will be to attempt to force the world organization into backruptcy -- or to force the U.S. to pay most of the bill. And we already are contributing hundreds of millions of dollars not only to the operation of the glass tower in Manhattan but as much as $300 million for special agencies around the world.

It would not be difficult to destroy the UN financially. It already is the biggest deficit operation since paper money was invented. And mostly because the Soviets and their allies, including Cuba, have withheld paying scores of millions of dollars in dues and assessments sometimes as a matter of "principle" and sometimes just to be cussed.

There is about $143 million due the UN from member nations. Of this the Soviet bloc owes $120 million. Of this about $40 million is due for maintenance of the former UNDF--UN EmergencyForce in the Middle East--and another $53 million for the 1961 Congo operation.

During the past few months the UN Secretary General has repeatedly warned the UN is approaching bankruptcy. On Oct. 6,1971, he told the General Assembly and Administrative Committee that the UN "is, as of now, in a state of near and hopeless insolvency."

And while the Soviet bloc has withheld its payments from the central secretariat funds and assessments on operations ranging from the Suez Canal to a Korean cemetery, the U.S. paid $56.3 million for 1970 or 31.5 per cent of the regualr UN budget. Furthermore, in 1970 America's contributions to specialized agencies totaled over $300 million.

Thus the burden will be thrown on the U.S. and some of its European allies who are hardly enthusiastic over paying out francs, marks or pounds.

Against this panorama the Soviet hypocrisy in the International Labor Organization (ILO) is sharply silhouetted. The U.S. has withheld some $20 million in payments to the ILO because it had become a forum for sharp attacks on America and Israel. In 1970, the Soviet bloc hit us with 34 attacks as "imperialists" in one session. Its work force at the ILO has increased by 350 per cent while our nationals have been frozen.

They revile us there in Geneva. They charge us with sabotage; everything from the study of industrial cancer to starving little children.

Now that the Soviet bloc has been disciplined and we will not have to pay 25 per cent of the ILO bill annually just to hear ourselves assaulted regularly, President Nixon and labor chief George Meany are for payment of our back dues and present assessment. They will be paid. But the Soviets will not pay their arrears anywhere. They want a free ride--or bankruptcy of both the UN and the U.S.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Governor George Wallace , the big little man from Alabama, is flying high these days.

He has come a long way from the tumbledown home in Clio, Ala., where he was raised. His father, George, Sr., and his mother, Mozelle, were poor whites, and their son had to make his way behind an ox team.

He learned early to step carefully.

Wallace started his public career in 1945 as an assistant attorney general in Alabama. He has seldom been off the state payroll since. He fought his way to the governorship, which he found to be an enriching experience.

Contractors selling tne state such items as asphalt, insurance, milk, road building equipment and school supplies felt the hot breath of Wallace's henchmen on their bank accounts. A surprising number of state contractors were also major contributors to Wallace's political organization.

Those who did not kick in, strangely, didn't do well in the bidding for state contracts. In some instances, the specifications for bids were written to preclude all but favored bidders.

A prime source of income for the Wallace people was the liquor industry. Alabama sells its booze through state liguor stores and distributors paid under - the- table kickbacks to Wallace's political agents.

Political Payoffs

These payoffs began early in Wallace's first administration and continued through the administration of his late first wife, Lurleen, who succeeded him in the governorship. We dug out the story of the liquor payoffs, complete with names, dates, details and cancelled checks.

This led to a federal tax investigation of Wallace's closest associates, including his brother Gerald. The Internal Revenue Service looked into a variety of kickback schemes that were used by the Wallace crowd.

The revenue agents concluded that the Wallace brothers' law firm was used in funneling some of the kickbacks. They also charged that Gerald Wallace has failed to report income that came to him through the law firm in 1967 and 1968.

Last May, President Nixon visited Alabama and invited Governor Wallace to ride with him on a flight from Mobile to Birmingham. No one knows what the two men said to each other during the plane ride.

These events, therefore, may be merely coincidental: (1) the tax case against Gerald Wallace was dropped, and (2) George Wallace, subsequently, announced he would run for President this year as a Democrat, not as an independent.

Wallace's 1968 presidential campaign cost about $9 million. His aides are projecting a 1972 budget of $30 million. That's a lot of whiskey commissions.

In 1968, insiders tell us many small contributions also came in from those who saw the Alabama governor as a messiah. But some of the $5 and $10 donations, apparently, never reached the campaign treasury.

As contributions committee co-chairman Dick Smith put it: "I'm not accusing anybody of stealing; they just didn't turn it all in."

Watson's Sprees

We have told how Ambassador Arthur K. Watson, who is handling the delicate diplomatic contracts with the Chinese in Paris, got uproariously drunk on the midday flight to Washington for his conferences with President Nixon.

Witnesses described how the gray-haired ambassador kept shouting for Scotch, grabbing stewardesses and trying to stuff money down the fronts of their blouses. We also spoke to a stewardess who said Watson, on another floght a few months ago, drunkenly propositioned her to become a mistress for his teen-age son. When she declined, the ambassador petulantly pelted her with grapes from the fruit basket.

Intimates recall other drunken episodes around the circular bar in Watson's fancy chalet, nestled between two gigantic mountsins in the Vermont ski country. He called the chalet "Camelot," referred to himself as "king Arthur" and addressed his wife as "Guinevere."

These incidents would be Watson's problem, and none of the public's business, if he weren't entrusted with one of the nation's most curcial piplomatic assignments. The Chinese have no respect for a man who can't hold his liguor. The slightest display of drunkenness would cause Watson to lose face, in Chinese eyes, and they would regard him with contempt.

This could jeopardize the important diplomacy that President Nixon started in Peking.

Agnew Hints Of Race For Presidency In '76

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says if he runs for re-election with President Nixon this year, he will be thinking about running for the presidency himself four years hence, the Kansas City Star said today in a copyright story.

"There would be little reason for me to be thinking about running for re-election if I had no thoughts of at least keeping my option open to seek the presidency," Agnew said.

The vice president's views came in an interview with John Chandley, managing editor of the Kansas City Times, and John R. Cauley, and Joe Lastelic of the Star's Washington bureau.

Agnew said his decision as to whether he would accept an invitation from Nixon will wait until if and when the President asks him to be his running mate.

The newspaper also quoted Agnew as saying the Florida primary indicates Gov. George Wallace has nationwide support and that he has become a "new factor" in the battle for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The vice president also expressed belief the candidacy of Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine "is on a severe downhill trail."

"I think it proves without a doubt there is no front runner," Agnew said of results in New Hampshire and Florida. "I'd say the Democratic nomination is wide open. It's pretty hard to predict what's going to happen. We have to watch a few more primaries."

Asked what he viewed as the principal issues of the 1972 election campaign, Agnew replied:

"I think the principal issue that is developing is an underlying issue in definition—the credibility of government.

"This runs through quite a few parts of foreign and domestic policy. What the administration must go to the people with is that what it has been doing has not been duplicitious or evasive, but has been in the best interests of the country."

This, he said, applies to such foreign situations as the China visit and "to such current matters as the I.T.T. controversy."

The other issue, Agnew said, will be the Vietnam War and whether Nixon's plan for ending the war is satisfactory.

HHH Takes Gallup Lead Over Muskie

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — The latest Gallup poll shows Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota as the leading choice of Democratic voters for the party's presidential nomination.

The poll released on Sunday showed Humphrey with the backing of 35 per cent of the Democratic voters surveyed, while runner-up Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine received support from 28 per cent.

The figures do not take into consideration Alabama George C. Wallace, winner of the Democratic primary in Florida last week.

With Wallace in the field, Democratic voters surveyed from March 3 to March 5—prior to the primaries in New Hampshire and Florida—gave Humphrey 31 per cent, Muskie 23 and Wallace 15.

The January poll showed Muskie ahead of Humphrey by 10 per cent and the February poll by 3 per cent.

The preference of March poll respondents on other Democratic candidates:

Wallace, not included—Mayor John V. Lindsay, 8 per cent; Sen. George S. McGovern, 7; Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, 6; Sen. Henry M. Jackson, 5; Rep. Shirley Chisholm, 3; Sen. Vance Hartke, 1; Mayor Sam Yorty, 1; no preference, 6.

Wallace included—Lindsay, 7; McGovern, 6; McCarthy, 5; Jackson, 3; Chisholm, 2; Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, 2; Hartke, 1; no preference, 5.

Alleged Massacre In Yemen Hikes Tension

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Forty South Yemen opposition leaders were tricked by the Aden government into reconciliation talks last week and then murdered, the official Saudi Arabian news agency reported today.

It said the alleged massacre has increased tension between the Yemen and South Yemen to "warlike proportions."

Earlier reports said the two countries had closed their common border and put their armed forces on alert.

The agency said the victims belonged to the Front for the Liberation of Occupied South Yemen—FLOSY—headed by labor leader Abdulla Asnag and former Premier Abdul Kawi Mekkawi.

Leaders of the front went into exile in neighboring Yemen when Aden won independence from Britain in 1967 and became the People's Republic of South Yemen under the rival Marxist National Liberation Front party.

Asnag eventually became foreign minister of Yemen, while Mekkawi operated FLOSY's activities from headquarters in the twin Yemen capital of Tai'z, according to the agency.

It said the 40 FLOSY leaders left Tai'z last week for a reconciliation meeting in the South Yemen border town of Sbeiha.

Nixon Regime Accused Of Tampering With Justice

NEW YORK (AP) — Life magazine charges that the Nixon administration "has seriously tampered with justice in San Diego" in an effort to protect some of its most important friends there from criminal prosecutions. The administration denies the charge.

In an investigative report published Sunday, Life said it had learned that "the administration has in several instances taken steps to neutralize and frustrate its own law-enforcement officials" by delaying prosecutions, curtailing investigations and other means.

The article by Life associate editors Denny Walsh and Tom Flaherty also said that President Nixon personally chose San Diego for the site of the Republican national convention next August and that he considers it his "lucky city."

White House spokesman denied Sunday night that Nixon had had a preference for the convention site. In an interview last July, however, White House communications director Herbert Klein said Nixon favored San Diego.

Life said its investigation, which began last July, disclosed that the administration intervened in three cases, involving C. Arnholt Smith, a long-time friend and financial ally of Nixon; Frank Curran, a former San Diego mayor, and John Alessio, a real estate investor and head of a legal bookmaking operation in Mexico.

The magazine said its probe showed that:

—Harry Steward, U.S. attorney for Southern California, "squelched" an investigaion of reports that illegal political contributions were being funneled through a company controlled by Smith. Steward had been appointed by Nixon on Smith's recommendation, Life said.

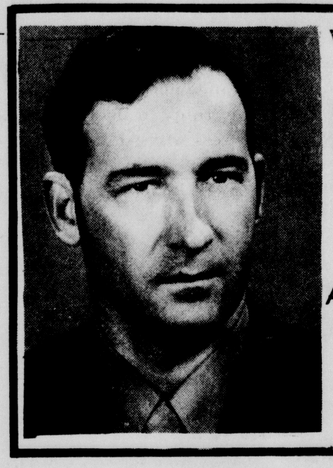

—When former Democratic Mayor Curran was indicted in 1970 for allegedly taking a bribe from a cab firm to help raise taxi fares, the administration refused to let a federal investigator testify for the prosecution.

—During a criminal investigation for tax evasion of Alessio, Smith went to Washington to plead Alessio's case with Nixon, Life said it learned from sources. It said that in an interview Smith denied talking to the President about Alessio.

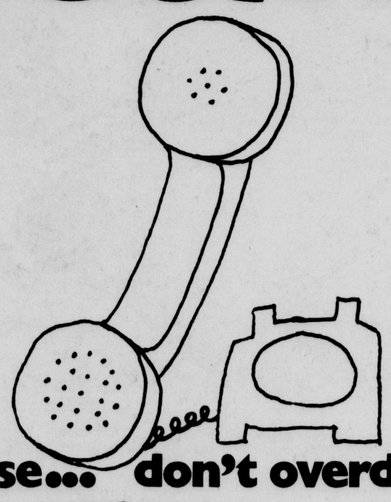

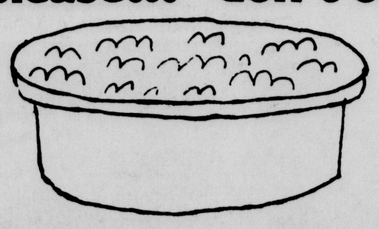

Within days of Smith's alleged visit with the President, the administration called off its grand jury presentation and sat on the case until the statute of limitations nearly expired on a key portion.

Beard Grows and Grows and Grows

Dear Ann Landers: My brother started to grow a beard two years ago when he was 19. It looked rather attractive when it was sort of a Van Dyke but now it's somewhat mangy. My mother has been after him to trim it but he says he wants to see how long it will get. Mom says it won't grow more than another few inches --- down to the middle of his chest --- because when a beard reaches a certain length, it stops growing. According to her it's nature's way of keeping beards from becoming dangerously long. Mom must be right because I've never seen a beard grow longer than the middle of a man's chest. Please explain how hair stop growing. --- Beardologist At Berkley

Dear Beardologist: Mom is wrong. Hair keeps growing, although the rate varies among individuals. For most people, it's about half an inch per month, whether you cut it or not. Back in 1877 a man named Phillip Henson let his beard grow for 10 years. He was six feet, two inches tall. His beard reached the carpet and dragged for about six inches. So far as I know, this was the world's longest beard. I hope your brother doesn't try to break Mr. Henson's record.

Dear Ann Landers: A few months ago a close friend told me that last year my husband had a young child by a married woman. Her husband believes the child is his.

We have three children. My husband's cheating is an old story, but news of this child came as a shock to me. It is almost too much to bear. I lie awake nights wondering what kind of man he is. How can he ignore this youngster? It makes him seem like some kind of monster.

Should I tell him I know, and insist that he see the child? I started to say something to him at Christmas but I didn't have the courage. Should I go to the woman and demand that she tell her husband the truth? I really don't hate her, but sometimes I hate myself for staying with a man who is so hardhearted. Divorce is out of the question. Our three children need him --- and he is a good father. What should I do, Ann? --- Insomnia

Dear In: Do nothing. You have no evidence that the story you heard is true. Put this episode out of your mind and don't discuss it with anyone. According to law the woman's husband is the father to her child. A married lover's confession would add nothing except confusion and misery for two families. The "friend" who gave you the word is NO friend.

Dear Ann Landers: Your reply to the cheated on wife who wanted to phone her friend 2,000 miles away and tell her that Hubby just confessed they had slept together 13 years ago, stank.

You said it would accomplish nothing except to make her husband look like a jerk. Your notion that it didn't matter because it happened 13 years ago shows how little you know about human nature. Hubby had his fun. Why shouldn't the cheated on wife enjoy the pleasure of telling the tramp off? You have no idea what this would do for her ego. I know what I'm talking about because I made such a phone call two years ago --- on a hunch. And I was right. The dame confessed, apologized all over the place and thanked me for calling. That call lifted my spirits and I was in a state of exhilaration for two weeks. Reverse yourself, kiddo. --- Eye for An Eye

Dear Eye: Thanks for telling us about your cheap trip. It's amazing what some people consider entertainment.

Vanguard Theatre To Play in SEMO Towns

DEXTER — Over a dozen actors and technicians. along with two station wagons and a van packed full of scenery, costumes, props and electrical equipment, left Kansas City Feb. 29.

The small caravan will carry Missouri Vanguard Theatre over 4,000 miles to 25 towns and cities in the state. Numbered among their stops will be Dexter New Madrid, and Caruthersville.

The story of Tartuffe, Moliere's brilliant comedy, is an hilarious one. Take one con man, masquerading as a pious minister, mix in a nagging mother-in-law a saucy maid, and a gullible rich man, who almost turns over his wife, daughter, house and fortune , house and fortune to the phony preacher, and you have a recipe for a laugh-filled evening for the family.

Giles Fowler, Drama Editor of the Kansas City Star, had this to say when he reviewed the production of Tartuffe shortly before the 1972 tour ''Missouri Vanguard's "Tartuffee" is simply choice. At reaching into the sense of Moliere's glorious comedy, it is the most successful "Tartuffee" I have ever seen--a credit to the touring company from the University of Missouri, Kansas City, and a gift of pleasure to its audiences around the state."

As a benefit of the paid evening performance, the local schools will have six special programs in the afternoon, including a puppet story hour at the elementary schools and a junior and senior high school assembly program "The Trysting Place" by Booth Tarkington. These are at no cost to students or schools.

"Tartuffe will be presented at Dexter Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Dexter high school auditorium. This performance is sponosored by the Arts and humanities committee and co-sponsored by the Missouri State Council on the Arts and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Stoddard County Patrons of the arts and humanities for 1972 will be admitted free. Tickets may be bought at the door.

The play will be presented at Caruthersville high school Friday at 7:30 p.m. and at New Madrid high school at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Former Cards Deal Blows

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cards—or, rather, the ex-Cards—were stacked Sunday in favor of the Philadelphia Phillies.

And when the Phils were through playing with their loaded deck, they had trumped St. Louis 7-1 in an exhibition baseball game on the strength of three aces—former Cardinals Steve Carlton, Willie Montanez and Tim McCarver.

Carlton, traded from St. Louis to Philadelphia last month, denied he was fired up at facing his ex-mates for the first time, but he hurled six innings, allowing one run.

Montanez, one of two players the Phillies acquired from St. Louis two years ago as compensation for Curt Flood's failure to report, lashed out two doubles and a single, driving in four runs. McCarver, acquired in the Flood-Richie Allen deal, doubled home Philadelphia's first run and added two singles.

Elsewhere, the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates swept a three-game series from the Cincinnati Reds in Venezuela, winning Sunday 8-1 after two shutouts. Bob Johnson hurled 5 1-3 perfect innings, Bob Robertson drove in four runs with two hits a sacrifice fly and Richie Zisk homered.

The Los Angeles Dodgers rapped out 14 hits and Willie Crawford and ,Bill Buckner combined for five RBI in an 8-5 triumph over the Houston Astros.

Orlando Cepeda's two-run homer off Gary Gentry helped the Atlanta Braves beat the New York Mets 3-1 and Sam McDowell pitched six strong innings and smacked a two-run double as the San Francisco Giants edged the Chicago Cubs 32.

The Minnesota Twins scored an unearned run in the ninth inning on Doug Griffin's throwing error and nipped the Boston Red Sox 5-4 and Jim Panther, acquired in the Denny McLain trade, pitched three scoreless innings in the Texas Rangers' 8-6 conquest of the Kansas City Royals.

Milt Wilcox checked California on one run over six innings and the Cleveland Indians topped the Angels 4-1. Three RBI each by Dave Campbell and Larry Stahl powered the San Diego Padres over the Milwaukee Brewers 14-7.

The Oakland A's downed the Lotte Orions of the Japanese League 9-3 while the BaltimoreMontreal and Detroit-New York Yankees games were rained out.

Court Begins Anti-Trust Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today took up Curt Flood's suit against organized baseball.

Former Justice Arthur J. Goldberg, in arguments prepared for a one-hour hearing, contended that the contract that binds a player to one team directly violates antitrust laws.

Goldberg, representing the former St. Louis Cardinal centerfielder, urged the court to reverse a 1922 decision that exempted baseball from laws regulating interstate commerce. He said the ruling was an anachronism.

But Paul A. Porter, a Washington attorney, and Louis L. Hoynes Jr., a New York lawyer, cautioned that the reserve system is the cornerstone of baseball.

Without it, they said, the wealthiest teams in the largest cities would attract the best players, destroying baseball's competitive balance.

Backed by the players' union, Flood brought his damage suit against baseball after the Cardinals traded him to the Philadelphia Phillies in 1969. He wanted to be made a "free agent," at liberty to play for a team of his choosing.

At the very least, Goldberg said, baseball should give players the limited freedom of action provided in football, basketball, hockey and other sports.

In his brief Goldberg argued baseball "is big business" and ought to be treated as such.

"The Sherman Act has long prohibited businessmen from entering into concerted agreements to eliminate competition among themselves in the procurement of commodities essential to theer businesses. And businessmen are plainly prohibited by the act from utilizing concerted refusals to deal, or group boycotts.

"There is little question but that organized baseball's reserve system falls squarely within these per se proscriptions."

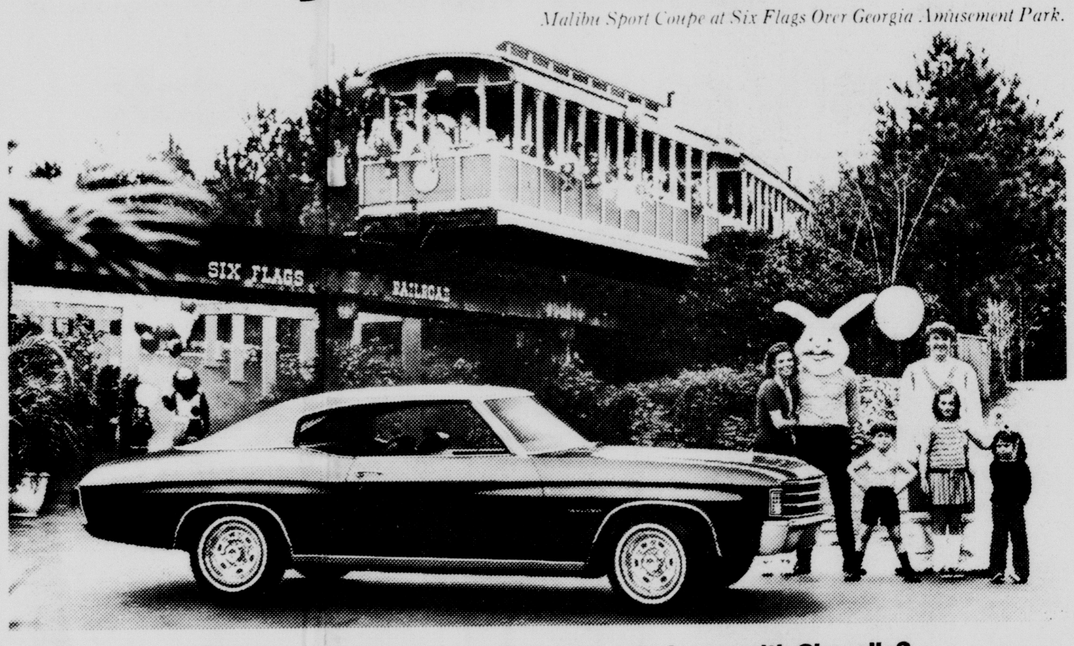

Porter and Hoynes said Flood's complaint is fundamentally a labor-management dispute and any change should be worked out by the ballplayers' union and the club-owners.

"There is a blend of competition and partnership among the clubs in baseball which would be both unnecessary and improper in the normal business world."

A final decision by the justices is expected before the end of June.

Have you noticed how many young families get carried away with Chevelle?

They get carried away to lands of history and fantasy like Six Flags Over Georgia, enjoying a ride as soft as cotton candy and handling as precise as if their Chevelles were on rails.

We built quality into Chevelle from one end of its mid-size wheelbase to the other because we want it to be the best car you ever owned. For example, we put Full Coil suspension and cushions of rubber between the frame and body to keep noise out of the passenger compartment. Plus a sturdy steel guard beam in every door, double panels in the door, in the hood, in the deck lid. And up inside the fenders—inner fenders that help protect against corrosion.

There's also an engine that operates on regular, no-lead or low-lead fuel, a battery with sealed terminals on the side so corrosion won't build up and a new front seat belt system that reminds you to buckle up.

Just try a Chevelle once and even those "wild indians" at Six Flags couldn't tear you away from it. Have fun.

Offensive Help On the Way....

HONOLULU (AP) — The National Football League's Competition Committee, having concluded deliberations on the island of Maui, was ready today to set before the assembled NFL owners suggestions for rules changes that might significantly alter the nature of the game.

The Competition Committee has been examining the balance between offense and defense — a balance that appears to have been tilted in favor of defensive forces—with an eye toward suggesting prossible remedies for the situation.

It is a critical decision for the NFL ownership, which has witnessed during the last two years a dropoff in scoring of more than 100 touchdowns—a fact that some believe threatens the popularity of the sport.

Besides possible proposals aimed at aiding offenses, the owners also are likely to have placed before them two proposals on sudden death—one aimed at changing its nature and the other aimed at making it mandatory for all tie games.

Also on the agenda is selection of a site for Super Bowl VII next January, the ticklish subject of the Chicago All-Star game, several proposals to amend the constituion and various committee reports.

The rules, however, are the major item on the agenda—for there appears to be considerable concern about the nosedive in scoring attributed to constantly improving defenses.

In the weeks prior to their private sessions, the Competition Committee composed of Paul Brown of Cincinnati, Tex Schramm of Dallas, Jim Finks of Minnesota and Al Davis of Oakland, tangled with a host of suggestions put forward for their consideratin.

Among them were proposals for increasing the value of the touchdown, cutting down on field goals as a means of forcing teams to continue drives, pinning defensive lineman down rather than permitting continued movement, and a suggestion that the field be widened.

While all were of a technical nature, the purpose was singular—more scoring.

The proposals involving sudden death were in another category. The one suggesting that all games tied at the end of regulation play be continued in sudden death seemed doomed to defeat.

But serious consideration likely will be given proposals to change the nature of sudden death, in effect for all post-season action.

The proposals were aimed at preventing a situation in which a team wins the coin flip prior to sudden death and then immediately drives for a field goal that wins the game, without the opposition ever getting the ball.

There was a strong feeling that determining the outcome of a game by that means—almost as a result of winning the coin flip—left something to be desired. There have been several alternatives proposed.

Selection of a Super Bowl site was expected to be decided Tuesday. The likely candidates were Miami, New Orleans and Los Angeles—al previous hosts,—Dallas, Houston, Palo Alto, Calif., and possibly Kansas City and Jacksonvile, Fla.

The Chicago All-Star game is up for discussion, with the 1972 game the last of the current contract. There appeared to be some sentiment to either doing away with the game or finding a more suitable game than a match-up between the Super Bowl champs and College AllStars.

Stewart Top Coach

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Norm Stewart, who has guided Missouri to improved seasons each of the five years he has been coach, was named Saturday Big Eight Conference basketball coach of the year.

Stewart, 36, won the honor in voting of sports writers and sportscasters. He beat out Jack Hartman, who coached Kansas State to the Big Eight championship.

During the regular season, Stewart's Tigers carved a record of 21 victories and five defeats and earned an invitation to play in the National Invitation Tournament in New York's Madison Square Garden.

Vincennes Takes JUCO Championship

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — Vincennes, Ind., Junior College proved Saturday night a basketball team doesn't have to be one of giants to win.

The Indiana team had the shortest club in the National Junior College Tournament and won the championship by beating Ferrum, Va., 73-61.

Gulf Coast of Panama City, Fla., defeated Tyler, Tex., 85-81 for third place. Southern Idaho won fourth by whipping Casper, Wyo., 73-72, and Arizona Western took fifth by trimming host Hutchinson 99-94 in overtime. Casper finished seventh and Hutchinson eighth in the 16team tourney.

Vincennes, cold early in the game and trailing 17-9, grabbed the lead on Tony Byers' 20-foot shot and led at the half 32-31. It was never even again.

Byers was the game's high scorer with 23 points. Ferrum's top scorer was Clarence Walker with 21.

An overflow crowd of nearly 200 was on hand Friday night to honor the Sikeston Junior Babe Ruth All-Stars for their 1971 accomplishments on the diamond.

The 13-15 year old stars, who claimed the state title and placed second in the midwest plains regional at Belle Plains, Minn., were awarded trophies and certificates for their accomplishments.

Sam Harbin, Sikeston public school superintendent, was the master of ceremonies for the hour and a half gathering.

Southeast Missouri District Babe Ruth baseball commissioner Bob Ralph, presented the players and coaches with trophies while Sikeston city Junior Babe Ruth President Arthur Bruce made the certificate presentations.

A letter from Don Jones, state Babe Ruth baseball president, was read by Harbin, It lauded the All-Stars for their play and representation of Missouri in the Mid-West Plains regional. Other congratulatory letters were read.

The meal of chicken, baked beans, and creamed potatoes with coffee or Coke and ice cream were donated by Sikeston businesses. American Legion members gave their services as cooks.

Ralph laid out the plans for this season's state, regional and national tournaments in junior Babe Ruth. Joplin will host the state event, Fargo, N.D., will entertain teams in the regional and Pine Bluff, Ark., will host the world series. Chaffee will host the 13-year-old state tournament.

The All-Stars accomplishments through the district, state and regional tournaments were outlined. Sikeston beat back New Madrid, Charleston, Tri-County and West Plains in the district and beat Houston, Jefferson City before losing its first game to Joplin and then returning to beat Lebanon and Joplin in a double header.

The Stars lost their opening game in the regional to McPherson, Kan., but battled back to eliminate South Dakota, Colorado, North Dakota, and Kansas before losing to St. Paul, in the final.

Bruce gave a brief resume of the season and noted the cooperation of the parents, players, coaches and sponsors in making it a successful campaign.

The need for expansion of the league was also noted by Bruce.

"A number of boys failed to get in uniform last year because of the lack of teams," Bruce noted. "We need to add at least two teams this season."

John Farris was honored for hurling a no-hit, no-run game last season in league play. He was given a certificate for his accomplishment.

Approximately 250 Advance citizens turned out at the high school gymnasium for a community supper Saturday night to honor the Hornets basketball team which captured the State class S championship March 4 at Rolla.

Coach Carroll Cookson was introduced with the players and the school cheer leaders.

Guests were Bill Reynolds of KFVS Radio in Cape Girardeau, Bob Barks and wife of the Advance News, the Rev. John Heitman, and Bill Harrison and wife of the Daily Standard.

Reynolds congratulated the team on the sportsmanship that was displayed in the finals of the tournament. Barks unveiled a new sign, which will be erected at the city intersection indicating the home of the class S champions and has Coach Cookson and Assistant Coach Kirkpatrick's name along with each name of the winning team.

Harrison presented each player with the team managers a Daily Standard certificate for being the number one team in the area.

The Daily Standard sports panel of coaches selected the newspaper All-Star, All-Academic and final top ten teams Saturday. The results of their voting will be announced Friday.

Advance and its coach, Carroll Cookson, have been singled out by the paper as the receipients of the number one team award and coach of the year honor restictively.

This marks the fifth year that the paper has honored the top 15 players for their skill, ability and academic work.

Mizzou Loses Tourney Opener

NEW YORK (AP) — Coach Norm Stewart of Missouri says the Tigers lost to St. John's, N.Y., in the National Invitation Tournament Saturday night in overtime because "we couldn't do the things that have been good to us."

The score was 82-81.

"We've been able to protect the leads and make the free throws and not make the mistakes," Stewart notes. "You can't make mistakes and play this game."

Missouri blew a 46-38 halftime advantage. The Tigers had chances in the overtime period but threw them away.

Mike Griffin, for example, stole the ball with 2:53 left in the overtime and scored on a layup only to be called for traveling.

"We stilkl had a lead," Stewart points out, "which we threw away. You can't make mistakes and play. We did that tonight. We wanted to keep the basketball, score or get the foul shot. Keep the ball."

The Tigers had a 77-75 lead with 3:13 left in overtime and an 81-78 margin with 2:18 showing.

Missouri lost its big man, John Brown, who fouled out with 2:40 left.

Greg Flaker led the Tigers in scoring with 27 points. Brown collected 21 and had 12 rebounds. Sophomore Al Eberhard, who made 10 points, grabbed 11 rebounds.

Misouri Matched St. John's in field goals, losing at the free throw line where the Tigers made 17 of 26. St. John's made 18 of 26 at the charity line, and that was the difference.

HEROD ANTIPAS

The leading personality in public circles during the lifetime of Jesus was the son of Herod the Great. Called Herod Antipas, he was Tetrarch of Galilee and Peraea and ambitious for political advancement.

St. Luke tells us that Antipas was "perplexed" about Jesus and had some hope of meeting Him. As the Master's popularity grew, so did the rumors that Antipas would have Him murdered, just as he destroyed John the Baptist. John had preached against the foul life of the Herod household.

On Good Friday, Antipas had a brief interrogation of the Lord, hoping for a miracle or some amusing answer to his insulting questions. Getting neither, St. Luke adds that "Herod and his troops treated him with contempt and ridicule, and sent Him back to Pilate dressed in a gorgeous robe." An enemy of Jesus, he became an enemy of all people, eventually including his Roman supervisors who could no longer accept his playboy regency and banished him to Gaul.

Malden Acts To Improve Downtown

MALDEN — The Malden Inner City Business Association asked the Malden city council Monday night to cooperate with it in an effort to improve downtown Malden.

A delegation of merchants and property owners presented the Council with a list of suggestions for immediate and long range consideration.

John Howell, spokesman for the group, said that every town must have a core or center from which to grow and that the downtown area is the core of Malden. He said that the city administration has a stake in the downtown area as well as merchants and property owners. He cited figures to prove his point.

He said that of the $18,652.50 personal taxes paid to the City of Malden in 1971 that $6,875.70 or about one-third was from commercial personal taxes from the four-block area of downtown Malden. About one- fourth of the $46,852.75 in real estate taxes or $10,574.15 came from the same area. Add to this $4,042.50 in merchants tax and $15,132.50 in merchants license the total income to the City of Malden from the downtown area was $36,624.85. Howell said that growth is sought and not deterioration. He said that revitalizing the downtown area must be a united effort as it is a mutual problem.

He then listed the following suggestions for immediate consideration by the Council.

1. Eliminate free parking areas on the streets. He cited as examples the two banks, taxi stands, etc. He said that many merchants and many customers resented the fact that some business firms had free parking spaces and others didn't.

2. Change parking meters from the present five cents and ten cents so that pennies can be used. He said that the MICBA had found that many people resented having to put a nickel i the meter to park for possibly oniy ten minutes. The MICB urges the change back to a penny and enforcement.

3. Clean up sidewalk and curb area in front of the ruins of the E. C. Robinson Lumber Company as it is not only an eyesore, but a hazard.

4. Blacktop the alley from Main Street to the railroad that runs behind many of the main business firms. This is the alley that runs behind Norrid City Drug, Sears, Malden State BAnk, etc.

5. Take whatever immediate action is necessary to force E. C. Robinson Lumber Company to clean up the ruins left from last summer's fire.

Long term consideration:

1. Repair sidewalks and curbs where needed.

2. Pave (blacktop) city parking lot next to City Hall and mark it off for parking. This will allow greater use by motorists.

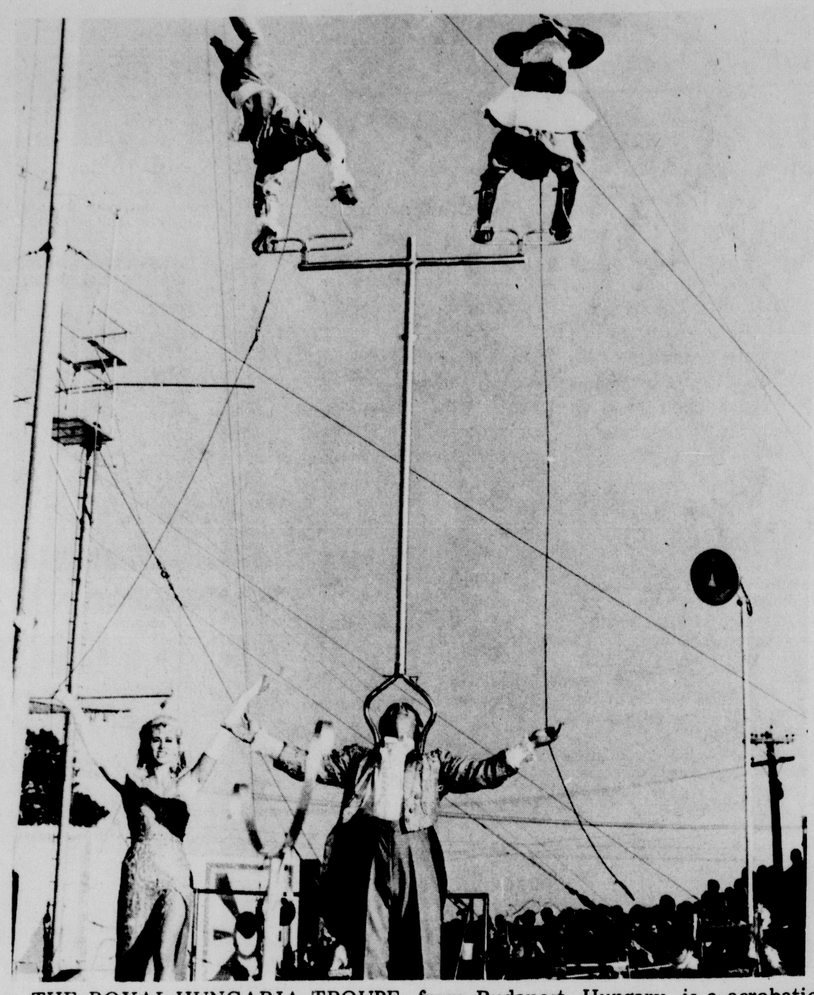

3. Purchase the E. C. Robinson Lumber Company property for an additional parking lot to serve the needs of the downtown area.

4. Pass a zoning ordinance for the entire city and enforce it, as Malden will not be eligible for urban renewal grants until this is done.

5. Reroute Highway 25 from Main Street to Laclede Street in order to get the flow of traffic away from the two main business blocks.

6. Consider a shopping mall concept for the downtown area.

Mayor Davis expressed his thanks to the group for their suggestions and said that the Council would give them consideration.

THE ROYAL-HUNGARIA TROUPE, from Budapest, Hungary, is a acrobatic act. Somersaulting feet to feet and a three high pyramid feet to feet is two of the feats performed by the troupe. The troupe have appeared in many of the country's top circuses after an extended engagement with the Ringling Brothers Circus. It has appeared on many talent shows on television and has finished a tour of major Canadian sport shows. It will be one of the many attractions at the Shrine Circus in Sikeston Friday and Saturday with performances starting at 1 p.m. and 8 p.m. at the high school field house.

LEGISLATURE BOGGED DOWN UNDER HEAVY WORK LOAD

JEFFERSON CITY -- The Legislature hasn't taken Gov. Warren E. Hearnes's advice.

In his opening address to the General Assembly more than two months ago, the governor warned lawmakers to concentrate on major pieces of legislation and not get "bogged down" in a heavy workload of minor bills.

But when the four- month legislative session passed the two- thirds mark last week, calendars were jammed with minor bills and passage of many major pieces of legislation seemed doubtful.

The problem is particularly acute in the House where more than 700 bills were carried over from last year's session and where many measures of statewide importance are stuck on the calendar behind hundreds of bills. To correct this, a special House calendar was set up to give priority to important bills and allow them at least a chance for debate and final action this session.

The problem of too many bills in too short a session is compounded since the state just doesn't have the money to initiate any costly new programs. Bills such as those to provide scholarship grants to students in private and public colleges and to increase state aid to indigent nursing home patients probably will fail because the Legislature can't find the millions necessary to implement the programs.

A final reason for the slow-motion session could be the most important: Elections come soon after the Legislature adjourns April 30, and there is a general legislative wariness to move quickly on any new programs.

Nevertheless, the Legislature is expected to act on at least four of the so- called "musts" it was given this session. The only failure has been in drawing a Congressional redistricting plan which was done by a federal court after several legislative attempts stalled.

One "must" bill already has been signed by the governor and will put the state in compliance with federal unemployment compensation guidelines.

The Legislature also is busy hammering out compromises to bring the state into compliance with federal billboard regulations and to provide a method of providing court defense to indigents.

Passage of the billboard bill is necessary by March 31 if the state is to avoid losing about $11.5 million in federal road funds next year, and a public defender system is required since the state Supreme Court ruled that after Sept. 10 it would not require court-appointed lawyers to defend indigents without pay.

Also moving toward passage is the final "must" measure -- a state budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1. The House has approved a $1.8 billion budget, but the Senate is expected to slice about $20 million from it. The final version probably will be thrashed out in a Senate - House conference committee as was the case last year.

School Tax Increase Prepared

CHARLESTON — The R-1 board of education Monday decided to ask voters for a 25-cent increase in this year's tax rate of $3.50 per $100 assessed valuation.

An explanation of the need for the increase is being prepared, according to Superintendent Thomas U. Wells.

What's the Law

Single Bedroom Law Held Invalid

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

With the cost of living steadily going up and its residents being hit by everything but falling prices, town officials passed a zoning ordinance that was intended to at least stabilize, to some extent, the local tax situation?.

New apartment houses were primarily limited to one-bedroom units. The idea was that one-bedroom would discourage tenants from having children. No additional schools would be needed and no additional taxes would be required to build them. It was all very logical to the town officials, but it wasn't very logical to Mr. Nemerdinkle, a builder.

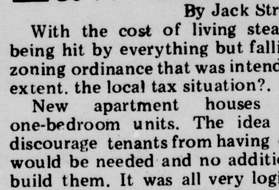

"That's not a building ordinance," he argued, "it's a contraceptive ordinance. You can no more restrict people from having children than you can stop me from building mulit-bedroom apartments to accommodate them. And, in this area, local employees need multi-bedroom apartments."

"You're a builder," answered the town officials, "so you don't care about anything except putting up your building. But the rest of us need some relief from rising taxes and expenses. They're the only things that seem to defy the law of gravity."

Determined to invalidate the zoning ordinance, Mr. Nemerdinkle took the matter to court.

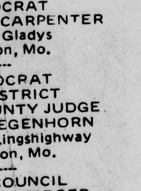

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you uphold the legality of the "contraceptive" ordinance?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that there is a right to live as a family and not be subject to a legal limitation on the number of members of that family in order to reside in a particular place. Where the effect of a zoning ordinance is to restrict a town population to adults and to exclude children, concluded the judge, the ordinance violates the equal protection clause of the Constitution. (Based upon a 1971 New Jersey Superior Court Decision)

Check your gas flame.

It may be trying to tell you something.

If the burners on your range are clean and properly adjusted, the gas should burn with a clear blue flame and a sharply defined inner cone. If there are traces of yellow, the burner holes may have become clogged with food particles and should be cleaned. If the yellow persists, burner adjustment may be necessary.

Keeping your gas range operating efficiently improves its performance and saves gas – which saves you money. After all, why waste a good thing?

Dear Editor,

I read most recently an article from your publication stating that the only opposition to the proposed 10% or greater discriminatory tax on carbonated soft drinks was from bottling organizations, retailers, and landowner organizations.

I am enclosing a list of the many business, labor, and civic organizations that are opposing this proposed tax. The list shows that many great organizations other than the ones previously mentioned are in opposition. The Missouri Farm Bureau Federation, Associated Industries of Missouri. Missouri Ice Cream & Milk Institute, and the Missouri State Labor council, AFL-CIO are formidable with large memberships and do not have any connection with the carbonated soft drink industry.

It is hoped that the enclosed list will be published for the information of your readership.

Sincerely,
R. E. Dallmeyer, Jr.

Symphony Will Play On April 12

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- The appearance of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra this spring at Southeast Missouri State College has been moved forward to April 12 and a concert by the College Choir, scheduled for March 21 has been postponed.

Doyle Dumas, associate professor of music and director of the choir, said the concert will be rescheduled later. It was postponed, he said, because members of the choir and other choral students at the college will perform with the symphony.

The symphony concert will be at 8 p.m. April 12 at the Arena Building.

On April 11 principal members of the symphony will conduct clinics for selected college and high school musicians.

Economics Grant For Cape State

CAPE GIRARDEAU — A $6,193 grant for an in- service institute in basic economics has been awarded to Southeast Missouri State College by the National Science Foundation.

The grant provides funds for a two- course sequence to be conducted one evening a week during the 1972-73 academic year. The institute will be open to social studies and business education teachers and other secondary school personnel with curriculum responsibilities, according to Dr. Wayne F. Ewbank, head of the social science department at Southeast Missouri State.

Dr. Ewbank is also the local director of the institute, which is one of six around the state being coordinated by the University of Missouri Extension Division. He and Dr. Gerald Giesler, assistant professor of social science, will teach the courses to be given at Southeast Missouri State.

Institute applicants must have a teaching certificate and at least one year of teaching experience.

Court Refuses To Force MU To Collect City Tax

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri Supreme Court has declined to force the University of Missouri to collect the Columbia City sales tax.

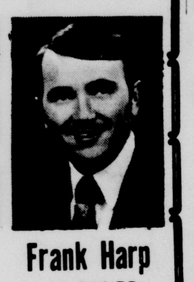

The court en banc denied the city's petition for a writ of mandamus against the university but said the city could attempt in some other fashion to force the university to act.

It did not specify what legal avenue the city should take.

Oxly Boy Struck By Car

OXLY — A 10-year-old boy is in critical condition in Doctors Hospital, Poplar Bluff, after being struck by a car Sunday in Oxly.

The mishap occurred, the highway patrol said, when Jeffery Jackson, 10, of Oxly, walked in front of a westbound 1968 Ford driven by Jay R. Pearce, 49, of Caruthersville.

The accident occurred at 2:25 p.m.

Two Houses Burglarized

BENTON — The John Mayfield house, route one, five miles east of here, was burglarized Friday. afternoon, between 3 and 4 p.m. according to Scott County Sheriff John Dennis.

Taken were a television set and a single-shot rife. Dennis said entrance was gained by forcing open a door.

Also on Friday afternoon, the home of Sam Menz, route two, Chaffee, was burglarized.

Taken were two violins, one valued at $1,000. Other items were taken, Dennis said. The estimated value of the stolen goods was about $2,000. Dennis said entrance was gained by forcing open a door.

Dennis said he didn't know if the crimes were connected. But he said it is common in the spring for thieves to go from house to house searching for an open door.

Charges Filed After Arrest

Billy Joe Wilson and his brother Daniel Wilson, both of Chaffee, were booked over the weekend for cashing bad checks and possession of dangerous drugs.

Both men were taken into custody Friday accused by police of cashing a bogus check for $85 at P.N. Hirsch on East Malone.

Police announced 10 other arrests over the weekend.

They include Alvin Myers, Jr. of 224 Petroleum, for disturbing the peace; and Robert Farris, Jr. of 908 Tanner St., for disturbing the peace.

Charles A. Thornton, Box 415, Wyatt, for disorderly conduct. Clay Fay Graham, Blodgett, for assault and battery and destroying public property. Victor William of 226 Dixie St. for assault and battery.

David Lee Campbell of 224 N. Handy, for speeding. Eugene Goins of Commercial, Ill., for disturbing the peace. Thomas Sever of Chaffee for running a stop light. Jimmie Allen Cornell of Chaffee for careless and imprudent driving. Gregory Jerome Foote of Bertrand for careless and imprudent driving.

Man Held In $500 Holdup

CHARLESTON — Herbert Hadley Burbaker, 59, of Grand Rivers, Ky., was arrested at 9 a.m. Sunday and is being held for investigation of armed robbery in connection with the Saturday night robbery of Stader's Highway Market on East Marshall street, according to Sheriff W. J. "Padro" Sommons.

Benjamin Whitehead, an employe of the market, said a man entered the store at 7 p.m. Saturday wearing a stocking over his face and sunglasses. He held a gun on Whitehead and demanded money from the sash register. Approximately $500 in cash was taken.

Simmons said today Burbaker also was being held on a warrant for armed robbery from Graves County, Ky. authorities. Charges of having no operator's permit and burglary tools in possission may be filed by Mississippi County authorities.

Juvenile Questioned On Fires

CHARLESTON — Juvenile Officer Gordon Galemore said this morning he is questioning a 14-year-old juvenile in connection with three fires at the Charleston Auction Company on West Marshall street.

The latest fire occurred at 6:35 p.m. Sunday. A small hay storage building was destroyed. Other fires on Feb. 4, and March 12 resulted in minor damage to hay sheds.

Dexter Man On Commission

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes reappointed Sidney R. Redmond of St. Louis to the state Board of Education today for an eight-year term.

Other reappointments included.

Howard Taylor of Dexter to the state Soil and Water Districts Commission.

Mrs. Myla A. Hutchens of North Kansas City, to the state Board of Nursing.

Lanora Blankenship of Cape Girardeau to the state Board of Cosmetology.

Dr. Sam C. Chapman of Liberty to the state Board of Optometry.

Dr. John W. Cain of Joplin to the state Board of Podiatry.

Dr. William A. Bloom of Fayette and F. Walter McCarty of Kansas City, to the Missouri Board of Nursing Home Administrators.

Welfare Work-Requirement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Russell B. Long says he is shaping a welfare work-requirement plan which the Finance Committee is expected to substitute for President Nixon's welfare-reform program.

The Louisiana Democrat, the committee chairman, said its members are crystalizing their ideas on the substitute after lengthy consideration of the issue.

"I think that we will have about six good ways that we can increase the income of people who ought to be working to help improve their own conditions," he said today in an interview for broadcast in Louisiana.

"We will provide job opportunities for them; we will provide tax advantages for them if they will take the job; we will provide tax incentives for people who will hire them; we will provide training opportunities," Long said.

Measure To Remove Tax Limit

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — John Vaughn, state budget director, says he will ask the Missouri Senate Appropriations Committee to introduce a measure to remove an appropriation limit of $20 million to provide state income tax refunds.

If the lid remains, Vaughn said, many Missourians will have to wait until after the start of the fiscal year in July to receive refunds.

Sen. Donald Manford, D-Kansas City, defends the lid imposed last year, saying it provides better accountability for the funds and $20 million seemed the best estimate at the time.

Vaughn contends about $13 million additional is needed to make all the refunds.

Door Broken By Youth

Police arrested a juvenile Saturday night for breaking down a door to a home owned by Joe Ryan at 615 Cleveland.

The youth told police he had been staying there seven or eight days. He said a door was usually left open but it was locked so he broke in the back door with his shoulder.

When police found him he was holding a hammer in his hand. The youth told police he was trying to repair the damage.

Ryan, who has been away from home due to illness, told police he did not know the youth was staying at his house.

Better Driving Conditions

A SIX-INCH BUMP was leveled this morning by the street department. Street Superintendent Bill Stokes, standing left, directs Edgar Lee Marshal, driving front loader, in removing the conceret incline at 420 West North street. The bump originated at an old railroad crossing next to Baber Feed and Seed Co. The railroad ties which were buried under the pavement have been removed to eliminate future problems. Floyd Greer, hidden behind Stokes and Louis White, right, helped remove the old concrete.

Court Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today agreed to reconsider the "hypertechnical requirements" of the 1966 Miranda decision limiting use of confessions at criminal trials.

The court acted at the request of Philadelphia prosecutors who asked for re-examination in light of the 1968 Federal Crime Control law, which eased rules against confessions for federal trials.

The case, to be heard next term, concerns a Philadelphia man, Paul D. Ware, who confessed in 1963 to the slaying of four elderly people. The Miranda ruling barred use of the statement by the time he was ready for trial.

There was no elaboration from the court as it announced it would hear the appeal. Therefore, the extent to which the Miranda decision will be reevaluated will not be completely clear until the case is argued.

In other action, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger encouraged states to make it a crime to show explicitly sexy movies at drive-in theaters whose screens are visible to teen-agers and other passers-by.

Burger presented his view as the court upset the obscenity conviction of a Washington state drive-in owner on ground that the law under which he was convicted did not put drive-ins in a special category.

The court also:

—Ruled that college students seeking the right to register as voters in their college campus towns must fight their legal battles as individuals, not as a group.

—Refused without comment to stay the enforcement of a California supreme court ruling that the death penalty violates the state constitution.

—Agreed to decide if it is legal for labor unions to fine members who quit during a strike and return to their jobs.

—Agreed to rule on the legality of the so-called "four installment" rule adopted by the Federal Reserve Board to protect consumers against hidden finance charges. The rule requires that when a sale involves more than four installments, the contract must disclose the total purchase price, the balance 1due after the initial payment and all additional charges.

—Declined to rule on laws that make certain kinds of sex acts a crime, even when performed in private by husband and wife.

—Turned down an appeal by New Orleans District Atty. Jim Garrison to block a $5 million damage suit brought against him by Clay L. Shaw, who was prosecuted unsuccessfully by Garrison on charges on conspiracy in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. Shaw said he should be immune from the suit because he was acting in his official capacity as district attorney.

At a minimum, the court will take another look at a cutoff date applying the Miranda decision. However, the court may be urged to go beyond that.

In a 5 to 4 Miranda ruling, the court prohibited trial use of criminal confessions unless the person making the confession was offered a lawyer and warned that anything he said could be used against him.

Hearnes Appoints Ferrell

Bill Ferrell

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes today announced the appointment of Bill Ferrell, route two, Sikeston, to the State Goals for Missouri Commission.

Ferrell is a deputy sheriff and owner of the Ferrell Auto Salvage Co. He is the president of the Missouri State Young Democrats Clubs.

He is the son of Frank Ferrell, Sikeston businessman.

The purpose of the commission, according to Hearnes, is to provide suggestions for improving the responsiveness of state government to the people.

Ferrell said he will attend the first meeting of the commission March 29 in Jefferson City.

Bills Coming Up

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Down by the riverside in Missouri's capitol, this is a week for thousands of school kids to swarm in and watch legislators get increasingly frantic as time runs out on their bills.

Both houses plan to resume debate on their own bills when the House reconvenes at 3 p.m. and the Senate an hour later.

But it's a pretty futile gesture. Unless a bill has some kind of steam behind it, a bill still in the House where it originated stands little chance of passage at this late date. The 1972 session has only six weeks to go before its April 30 adjournment.

Ready for passage in the Senate is a bill to consider a driver intoxicated when the alcohol level in his blood eaches .10 of 1 per cent. The present standard is .15 of 1 per cent.

Also up for passage is a socalled income tax reform bill to make Missouri definitions fit federal law. That would increase individual exemptions from $500 this year to $1,500 and to $2,000 next year.

Seven bills down on the House's priority calendar for debates is a bill to increase the state gasoline tax 2 cents a gallon to 7 cents. Such a bill passed last year but was vetoed by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes.

The first bill on the House priority list would set up a fire prevention union in the highway patrol to do the same job proposed in state fire marshal bills which have been consistently killed over the years.

Spending To Be Discussed

The city traffic committee will meet at 7:30 p.m. tonight at the city administrative building on North New Madrid.

The agenda will include two items forwarded to the committee by the city council. They are the problem of speeders on Wakefield and making Ford one way from Sunset Drive to Alabama Street.

Grass Fire On Car Lot

Firemen were called to a grass fire at 1 p.m. Saturday on South Ranney Street behind the Goza-Harper automobile lot. Firemen said the fire was caused by burning trash. No damage was done.

Boy Stricken

NEW MADRID — Jimmy Henderson, 15, son of Shirley Henderson, had emergency surgery early today at Baptist Hospital in Memphis after being stricken about 6 30 p.m. Sunday with a cerebra hemmorhage.

Seven Seek City Council Posts
Election Tomorrow

Sikeston voters will have the opportunity tomorrow to narrow the field of city council candidates from seven to four.

This is the second primary in two years for the council. Last year 13 candidates fought for right to meet in the general election. In that primary only 244 votes were cast. City officials are making no predictions on tomorrows turnout.

City ordinance requires that no more than two candidates for each seat can run in the general election. This year two seats are being contested, so three candidates must be weeded from the field before the general election April 4.

Candidates seeking voter approval are W. A. Alliston who is an employe of Missouri Utilities; Incumbant Kenneth Bridger, owner of Bridger Plumbing and Heating, Co.; Virginia M. Waters, who is a housewife and political science student at Southeast Missouri State College in Cape Girardeau.

Theon Grojean, who is an engineer and a former city council member; Bill Ryan of the Ryan Construction Co., who is making his first try for office. Eulalane Morris, is the wife of Jesse Morris, business agent for Carpenters Union Local 618, and Frank Ferrell is a businessman and a member of the Sikeston Industrial Development Commission.

All candidates seek three-year terms.

Citizens may vote from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. in their precinct. Ballot boxes for ward one precinct one are at the old police station; for precinct two at Ethridge Tire Company.

For ward two, precinct one residents may vote at Sonny Presley Chevrolet; for precinct two, voters should go to Lincoln school.

For ward three, precinct one ballot boxes will be at fire station one; for precinct two, at the Lewis Furniture store.

Ballot boxes for ward four will be at the Armory for precinct one and the Imperial Bowling Lanes for precinct two.

This morning, 10 absentee ballots had been cast. Voters have until 4:30 p.m. today to cast absentee ballots. The ballots will be opened and counted tomorrow.

Forty eight election officials, by wards and precincts are:

ward one, precinct one, Anita Hope, Lillian Turner, Myra Tanner, Lena Felker, Mrs. M. H. Davis and Martha Boyer; Ward one, precinct two, E. P. Aldridge, Mrs. Foncie Poe, Lillas Heacox, Judy Hart, Homer Scobey and G. M. Dye;

Ward two, Precinct one, Mata Bruce, Blanche Keller, Wanda Seabaugh, Hontas Schade, Pauline Webster and Margaret Seabaugh;

Ward two, precinct two, Ross Murray, Sadie Lamber, Fred Smith, Bea Pegues, Roberta Rowe and Geraldine Levy;

Ward four, precinct two, Inez Baker, Mary Ellison, Lemma Duncan, Ethel Baugus, Ethel Duggins and Louise Chapman.

Illinois Primary

CHICAGO —(AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie is campaigning for a comeback in Illinois, while Eugene J. McCarthy and Sen. George McGovern seek votes in hopes of dealing a double blow to the Democratic presidential campaign of the demoted front-runner from Maine.

The three Democratic rivals campaigned across the state today in the windup of the third heat of the presidential primary season, with Muskie in need of big victories in a pair of contests.

He faces McCarthy Tuesday in a presidential preference vote which is not binding, and McGovern in a complex delegate selection contest which is.

The voters will be choosing 160 of Illinois' 170 delegates to the Democratic National Convention, by far the biggest crop of nomination votes at stake in early season primary contests.

At least half the delegates are expected to remain beyond the reach of either Muskie or McGovern. They will be elected from uncommitted slates controlled by the Democratic organization of Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley.

The presidential rivals are not bucking the mayor in his Chicago domain. Neither entered delegates in five city congressional districts where 56 will be elected. One of the delegate candidates will be Daley himself.

McGovern is running 104 delegate candidates in 19 of the state's 24 congressional districts. Muskie's organization has endorsed 105 delegate candidates in 17 districts, although there are 161 Democrats on the ballot listed as committed to the Maine senator.

There is no preference primary on the Republican side, but GOP voters will be asked to endorse 48 Republican National Convention delegates. All are committed to President Nixon except for seven who are running uncommitted.

McCarthy has concentrated his $250,000 campaign, which features a big television advertising push, on the preferential contest. It is his first campaign of 1972, and if he can't make a substantial showing, it could be his last.

At a fund raising dinner Sunday at suburban Wood Dale, Muskie decried the increasing split in Democratic ranks. He warned that Democratic voters "do not have the luxury of voting their prejudices in March if they want a responsible choice of nominees in November."

Muskie came to Illinois after a damaging, fourth-place finish in Florida last Tuesday, where he gained 9 per cent of the vote.

And the Gallup Poll reported Sunday that Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey now leads Muskie, 35 to 28 per cent, as the preference of Democrats for the 1972 nomination. The poll was taken between March 3 and March 5.

McGovern's campaign is in need of some political repairs, too, after a far-back finish in Florida, where the South Dakotan maged only 6 per cent of the vote and trailed Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York, the candidate he had most hoped to outpoll.

Grojean Candidate For Council Seat

Theon F. Grojean

Theon F. Grojean, 113 West Wakefield, is a candidate for the Sikeston City Council.

A native of Scott County, Grojean has lived in Sikeston for 23 years and is associated with Grojean Engineers, 301 South Main. He is a registered professional engineer.

Grojean, 47, previously served on the City Council in 1960-62. Additionally, he is a former member of the Planning Commission, citizens advisory council for the Board of Education, and Jaycees.

He served as a lieutenant in the Air Force and was a pilot during World War II. He attended Southeast Missouri State College and received a degree in civil engineering from the University of Missouri at Rolla. He is a member of the National Society of Professional Engineers and the Missouri Society of Professional Engineers. He has served as secretary of the Southeast Missouri Contractors Assn.

Grojean is a member of the Exchange Club.

Regarding his candidacy, he has commented: "A growing city like Sikeston needs governance by qualified, knowledgeable people to assure orderly growth. Because of my previous experience on the City Council and other civic commissions, plus my professional knowledge, I feel I can be an asset to Sikeston in helping improve city government."

Grojean is the father of eight children, four boys and four girls. He is a member of St. Francis Xavier Church.

First Delta Council Board Session in Sikeston

The first official meeting of the Missouri Delta Council board of directors will take place Thursday at the Holiday Inn in Sikeston.

The meeting will commence at 4 p.m. with a recess from 5:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. for dinner and caucusing of nominating committees. Adoption of by-laws, election of officers and members of the executive committee and the determination of MDC's priority of activities will occur.

Five counties in the area, Dunklin, Mississippi, New Madrid, Pemiscot, and Scott, have elected their representatives to the board. Joining this group will be the presiding judges and the ASCS chairmen from Cape, Bollinger, Butler, Ripley and Stoddard counties, who represent standing members of each of the seven member council board. Organizational activities in these counties are expected to commence soon. Then five directors from each of these counties will be elected and will join the board.

One of the highlights of the board meeting here will be a membership report which is expected to show nearly 300 new members in 60 days.

This, according to a council spokesman, is encouraging since less than three per cent of the potential members have been contacted.

The spokesman also stated that the membership represented a broad cross-section of interests from throughout the Delta area.

POPULATION CATASTROPHE?

Just what kind of catastrophe is a large population anyway? In the 15 years between 1945 and 1960 some 12 million people fled into West Germany. Rising living standards and production growth are creating an intense competition for labor among West German industrialists. This is so true that over and above the 12 million refugees, West Germany has had to employ the services of 2.5 million "guest-workers" from other European nations and Turkey.

In the United States 4 million babies were born last year. This brought in more than 3 billion dollars for the manufacturers of baby food, clothing, furniture, toys and accessories.

At the end of World War II Australia took in almost 1.5 million people from Europe. Its gross national product was about 5 billion dollars; but 10 years later it rose to 13 billion dollars. Reported Time magazine: "Projections of future populations are admittedly fictions. No one can actually predict future population, and anyone who claims he can is either a fool or a charlatan." (Sept. 13, 1971).

It is worth recalling that statistics are easily manipulated. The underdeveloped nations do not for the most part keep birth or death records. Nobody knows how many Chinese there are or what their present rate of increase is. The prophets of population catastrophe all to often are "miracle-workers" with statistics.

There is no optimum population as such. Whether we have 250 million people or 350 million people is less important than what the people decide to do about their problems.

KILLING THE GOOSE THAT LAYS THE GOLDEN EGG

While many of our elderly citizens will agree with Congressman Wilbur Mills' proposal to raise Social Security taxes to provide for a 20 per cent increase in benefits payments, the working employes and employers are beginning to protest further increase in S. S. tax to be taken out of their checks.

As an example of this protest, the National Federation of Independent Business finds that a substantial segment feel that the present Social Security administration should be scrapped and replaced with a different system.

Although it has always been taken as fact that greater benefits could not be paid from present Social Security income without endangering the actuarial stability of thyplan, Congressman Mills' disclosure that the surpluses in the fund are far more than needed to meet benefits under current schedules appears to refute this contention. However, there now appears to be a definite link between maintaining high Social Security reserves and minimizing the full extent of the Federal deficit.

While nominally Social Security taxes are set forth as a trust fund, in practice the payroll deductions by a circuit route go into the general funds. About seven or eight years ago, to achieve "simplified" Federal bookkeeping, the separation of the Social Security collections and payments as a separate entity was discontinued to budget purposes. Currently, all these taxes and payments are lumped into the general Federal budget.

For the coming fiscal year Social Security taxes will be estimated at $83.2 billion as against $27.5 billion paid out. Thus the estimated Federal budget would be somewhere around $36 billion instead of the announced $25.5 billion. The deficit for the year ending June 30, by the same token, will on a true basis probably be close to $45 billion rather than the previously announced $38.8 billion.

This is all due to the fact that the surplus in the Social Security funds are loaned to other government agencies which are eventually repaid out of monies from the general fund, or by selling new securities to the general public.

As it stands now, 25 per cent of the almost $450 billion Federal debt is owned by government agencies through their borrowing from the Social Security fund surpluses. The Federal Reserve System only has 16 per cent of this Federal debt.

Under the law Social Security funds can be invested by the authority of a single trustee, currently the Secretary of the Treasury, in special obligations of the U. S. Government.

The records show that as of June 30, 1969, slightly over $26 billion of the Social Security funds are invested. Of this total only slightly more than $7 billion was loaned out at interest rates of 5 per cent or more, with the remaining $19 billion earning interest ranging from 2.5 to 4.25 per cent.

Evidence obtained by the Federation indicates that a large share of the Social Security funds loaned out at low interest rates are used to finance cooperative and other government sponsored projects along social lines which do not offer securities with sufficient yield to interest the private investor.

Dr. Colin Campbell of Dartmouth has testified that Social Security is unfair to the young worker, and studies have established that based on present life expectancies, the average young man, or his wife, cannot possibly live long enough to have returned the amount collected from him and his employer if such deductions were to draw a minimum 4 per cent interest.

This conclusion was challenged by the head of the Social Security Administration who in doing so published for the first time that the payroll taxes taken from the employer are not credited to the employe but merely thrown into the general pot, making Social Security actually a welfare fund instead of an insurance plan.

We think it is time to ask our representatives in Congress some questions about Social Security -- and it is obvious that politics in its management will be killing the goose that lays the golden egg if this is not corrected.

SPACE SPY GETS THE DOPE

NASA may launch a NARC one f these days.

In spelled-out English, National Aeronautics and Space Administration may get into the narcotics detection business by means of a spy satellite ("Narc" is slang for a narcotics agent).

Scientists believe it should be possible to detect a field of opium poppies as small as 10 acres from an orbiting earth resources satellite, says Aviation Week & Space Technology magazine.

Spotting marijuana would be a little trickier, however. Unlike poppies, which require direct sunlight and are cultivated in large fields, marijuana can be raised anywhere and is frequently mixed with harmless plants.

To ferret it out, two-legged "narcs" will still be needed.

It's happened. A town has been wiped off the map by pollution.

The village of Knapsack, near Cologne in West Germany, will soon cease to exist because of air pollution from nearby lignite works, Europe's largest phosphor factory, electricity works and other industries. Smog has made life increasingly unbearable if not dangerous in the village.

With the help of government funds, the last 2,500 residents out of a former population of 6,000 are packing up their troubles in their old kit bags and preparing to move to nearly completed homes and apartments in New Knapsack, located in a less-polluted area.

AS YOU MAKE YOUR BED . . .

First it was the water bed. Now it's the mud mattress.

No kidding. An engineer in Los Angeles has developed a mattress that works on the same principle as the water bed except that it's filled with mud. The principle is that a body floats more easily as water density increases, and since mud is twice as heavy as water, only half as much of the body sinks into it.

Next thing you know, somebody is going to take the principle a step further and develop a mattress made of steel springs inside some kind of cushioning material. They'll probably call it an innerspring mattress.

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is the golden lamp of life.

Its bright beams, reflected from the safe and changeless land of yesterday, light our steps along the troubled pathway of today and give us courage to dare the dangers of farther walks tomorrow.

You have a great store of recollections if you can remember when—

The average man saw no need for a two-bathroom house, a two-car garage—or a twomarriage life.

The only people who could afford to keep bankers' hours were bankers.

Folks put more faith in opportunity than in security.

You walked more often in mud in America than you did on concrete.

If you wanted something you hadn't inherited, you had to work for it to get it. No one expected the government to give it to him.

A doctor was so busy making house calls that he often found it difficult to keep regular office hours.

You met more eccentrics then than now because people had the strength and independence to be themselves instead of acting like each other.

It wasn't unusual for a baby to be born in the same bed that its great-grandfather had died in.

Anyone who had just one loaf of bread under his arm, not two, felt he had no justifiable reason to complain about life.

You could look at a boy and a girl walking arm in arm together and feel pretty sure which was which.

There was no place in town where you could buy a bottle of aspirin tablets except the drug store.

The biggest thrill in a little boy's life was getting iceskates with modern steel rather than wooden runners.

A nickel cup of coffee had just as much coffee in it as a 15-cent cup has today.

A young girl could take her grandmother to a movie without worrying whether the scenes or the language in it would offend the old girl.

The old people who had to end their days in an old folks' home were those who had no children.

Most families bought their groceries on credit during the week, and Father went to the store on Saturday night and paid the bill in full—with cash.

If a light was seen in your house after midnight, the neighbors would call up and ask if anyone was sick.

The biggest problem of the town policeman was to see that the town drunk got home without falling off the sidewalk and breaking his neck.

People tended to believe the best about each other, not the worst.

Those were the days—remember?

'NO BUSIN' GEORGE RUNS OVER MUSKIE

Senator Edmund S. Muskie must feel as if was hit by a bus today.

Alabama Gov. George Wallace, driving his "stop -the-busin' " campaign at top speed, not only defeated Muskie, Humphrey, McGovern, etal. He humiliated them.

After faltering in New Hampshire, Senator Muskie fell flat on his face in Florida Tuesday. He drew only a scrawny 9 per cent of the Democratic vote to finish a poor fourth behind second place finisher, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey and Sen. Henry M. (Scoop) Jackson in third place.

So Muskie is back with the rest of the pack today, fighting for survival. Hubert Humphrey, even though he was a distant second to Wallace, has moved into strong contention by polling more than twice as many votes as Muskie in Florida.

Senator Henry M. (Scoop) Jackson of Washington, a previous non-contender, now must be regarded as a serious candidate. He came in third, well ahead of Muskie and tail-enders Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York and Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota.

And George Wallace, anathema to Democratic liberals, may indeed have become a national candidate in the Democratic party. His capture of 75 of Florida's 81 delegates must send shivers up and down the spine of Larry O'Brien and other Democratic bigwigs who want Wallace anywhere but in the Democratic party.

What startled the Democrats was Wallace's rolling up 42 per cent of the vote (515,000), more than twice as many as his closest challenger, Humphrey (231,000).

Undoubtedly, Wallace's strong showing was largely due to his tough stand opposing school busing. Muskie, Humphrey, McGovern and Lindsay, by contrast, tried to straddle the issue and wound up being run over.

But Wallace also capitalized on the fact that Democratic liberals are out of touch with voters on the issues of big government and high taxes.

After his stupefying defeat, Muskie turned this rout even more sour by going on national television to denounce winner Wallace, as a demogogue of the worst kind and "a threat to the unity of this nation."

The "Sour Grapes" act even displeased Florida's liberal Democratic Governor Reubin Askew who pointed to the obvious slur against Florida voters. Old Democratic pros, Sen. Mike Mansfield and Hubert Humphrey, took recognition of Wallace's impressive win.

Wallace has little chance of winning the Democratic nomination but if he shows up well in northern state primaries and wins a number of primaries in southern and border states, he could go to the Democratic national convention with an impressive number of delegates, enough perhaps to put him in somewhat of a king-maker role at the convention. — Globe-Democrat.

LIGHT DRIZZLE MAKES DRIVING HAZARDOUS

"Hydroplaning on the highways is not an exciting outdoor sport," Piero Sierra, vice president, Pirelli Tire Corporation, warns.

A light drizzle or rainfall helps motor oil and gasoline residues congeal on the road and this water carpet, dubbed summer ice, can be as treacherous as authentic ice conditions in the winter. According to Mr. Sierra.

Describing the action, he said, "water is a natural lubricant to rubber. In the wet a film develops between the actual road surface and your car's tires. As a tire rotates (without traction) it pushes water ahead of it. Result: You end up riding a wave —hydroplaning— and, frequently, experience complete loss of vehicle control.

"A heavy or even a light rain," he says, "Should be taken as a warning to slow down. Motorists have to contend both with poor visibility and possible skid emergencies."

LABOR ACT CHANGE TO SPEED NLRB CASES CRITICIZED

Legislative proposals to expedite the procedures of the National Labor Relations Board, as contained in a bill (H.R.7152) to amend the Labor-Management Relations Act of 1947, would cause more problems than they would solve, the National Association of Manufacturers asserted.

Testifying before a subcommittee of the House Committee on Education and Labor, the NAM witness, Chas. G. Bakaly, Jr., said the proposed amendments would undermine confidence in the Board.

"The NAM shares the desire to expedite the processes of the Board," Mr. Bakaly said. "Our concern with the bill — and with any similar proposal — is twofold; Whether it will truly expedite the decision-making process; and, assuming that it will save time, whether efficiencies thus gained justify the possible losses in due process, fairness, consistency and visibility in the decision-making process."

Mr. Bakaly, a Los Angeles attorney, directed his major arguments against the section which would relieve the NLRB of its present statutory obligation to review the decisions of its trial examiners. If this amendment were enacted, the Board at its sole discretion could decline to review any decision of a trial examiner as to fact and law, and thus the examiner's order would become the order of the Board.

Noting that this proposal had been rejected previously by the Congress, the NAM witness said that elimination of the review procedure would deprive both labor and management of due process "in a very substantial degree and fundamental a manner."

The NAM also took exception to another amendment which would seek to hasten the enforcement of Board orders by hurrying them into the courts of appeal for enforcement decrees.

JEFFERSON WOULD BE PLEASED

The author of the Declaration of Independence, Thomas Jefferson, in a letter to his 15 year old nephew, wrote, "Let your gun be the constant companion of your walks." Drafting the Va. Constitution in 1776, Jefferson also wrote: "No free man shall ever be debarred the use of arms." Possession of firearms is one of the most fundamental traditions and rights of U.S. citizens. It is so closely interwoven with personal liberty under the Constitution that attempts to impose confiscatory regulatory measures on citizen gun ownership, if successful, could weaken the very fiber of U.S. representative government. In the futile campaign to curb crime by penalizing the law-abiding, the authors of oppressive gun controls have shown an unacceptable lack of contact with reality.

There are vast regions of the nation, from coast to coast, where people still depend on guns as a tool in business, as well as an instrument of sport. A survey of farmers from the Gulf Coast to the far Pacific Northwest and back to Michigan found that 93 per cent of agriculturists own guns -- usually 1 to 4 rifles, shotguns and handguns apiece. The guns are used to protect property, eliminate predatory or dangerous invaders, such as coyotes and rattlesnakes, and insure personal safety in areas where the forces of law are spread thinly.

The recent action of the U. S. Senate in approving the easing of regulations concerning sales of rifle and shotgun ammunition indicates a return to common sense in the matter of gun controls. Thomas Jefferson would be pleased.

SPRING AHEAD

Winter paralysis is about to pass. The blank clouds and numbing cold of the past few months have compounded our anxieties over the state of our government and social affairs, just as they do seasonally each year. During this winter we have seen our national political fortunes dip with the uncertainties of the presidential visit to Peking, the resulting dismay of Japan and our other allies, the disruption of monetary standards worldwide and the loss of foreign markets for our products. But hope springs eternal.

And a walk into the year on a good day or a short ride in the countryside is a tonic for the soul and the body. Nature, which went to sleep last fall, is showing signs of awakening. Blooms already are on some of the fruit trees. Dormant grass roots are beginning to turn green. It seems that nature somehow overcomes the mistakes of man who is in a constant state of destroying either the beauties of nature or his fellow man.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Governor George Wallace , the big little man from Alabama, is flying high these days.

He has come a long way from the tumbledown home in Clio, Ala., where he was raised. His father, George, Sr., and his mother, Mozelle, were poor whites, and their son had to make his way behind an ox team.

He learned early to step carefully.

Wallace started his public career in 1945 as an assistant attorney general in Alabama. He has seldom been off the state payroll since. He fought his way to the governorship, which he found to be an enriching experience.

Contractors selling tne state such items as asphalt, insurance, milk, road building equipment and school supplies felt the hot breath of Wallace's henchmen on their bank accounts. A surprising number of state contractors were also major contributors to Wallace's political organization.

Those who did not kick in, strangely, didn't do well in the bidding for state contracts. In some instances, the specifications for bids were written to preclude all but favored bidders.

A prime source of income for the Wallace people was the liquor industry. Alabama sells its booze through state liguor stores and distributors paid under - the- table kickbacks to Wallace's political agents.

Political Payoffs

These payoffs began early in Wallace's first administration and continued through the administration of his late first wife, Lurleen, who succeeded him in the governorship. We dug out the story of the liquor payoffs, complete with names, dates, details and cancelled checks.

This led to a federal tax investigation of Wallace's closest associates, including his brother Gerald. The Internal Revenue Service looked into a variety of kickback schemes that were used by the Wallace crowd.

The revenue agents concluded that the Wallace brothers' law firm was used in funneling some of the kickbacks. They also charged that Gerald Wallace has failed to report income that came to him through the law firm in 1967 and 1968.

Last May, President Nixon visited Alabama and invited Governor Wallace to ride with him on a flight from Mobile to Birmingham. No one knows what the two men said to each other during the plane ride.

These events, therefore, may be merely coincidental: (1) the tax case against Gerald Wallace was dropped, and (2) George Wallace, subsequently, announced he would run for President this year as a Democrat, not as an independent.

Wallace's 1968 presidential campaign cost about $9 million. His aides are projecting a 1972 budget of $30 million. That's a lot of whiskey commissions.

In 1968, insiders tell us many small contributions also came in from those who saw the Alabama governor as a messiah. But some of the $5 and $10 donations, apparently, never reached the campaign treasury.

As contributions committee co-chairman Dick Smith put it: "I'm not accusing anybody of stealing; they just didn't turn it all in."

Watson's Sprees

We have told how Ambassador Arthur K. Watson, who is handling the delicate diplomatic contracts with the Chinese in Paris, got uproariously drunk on the midday flight to Washington for his conferences with President Nixon.

Witnesses described how the gray-haired ambassador kept shouting for Scotch, grabbing stewardesses and trying to stuff money down the fronts of their blouses. We also spoke to a stewardess who said Watson, on another floght a few months ago, drunkenly propositioned her to become a mistress for his teen-age son. When she declined, the ambassador petulantly pelted her with grapes from the fruit basket.

Intimates recall other drunken episodes around the circular bar in Watson's fancy chalet, nestled between two gigantic mountsins in the Vermont ski country. He called the chalet "Camelot," referred to himself as "king Arthur" and addressed his wife as "Guinevere."

These incidents would be Watson's problem, and none of the public's business, if he weren't entrusted with one of the nation's most curcial piplomatic assignments. The Chinese have no respect for a man who can't hold his liguor. The slightest display of drunkenness would cause Watson to lose face, in Chinese eyes, and they would regard him with contempt.

This could jeopardize the important diplomacy that President Nixon started in Peking.

Mao's Bargain Rates: Peking to Pay Only $8 Million UN Dues. Angry Soviets Plan to Strangle It Financially

PARIS — It was Vladimir Ilyich Ulyanov, otherwise known as Lenin, who once muttered into his little beard that "the road to Paris is through Peking." For once he was right. But the bantam Bolshevik "father" didn't quite reckon that it would be the men of Yenan and not the commissars of the Kremlin who would get here first.

And nothing has infuriated the latter-day Leninists as much as Paris becoming the trading post for Peking and Washington. But Paris also is a listening post. Traditionally the French Communist party has been the signal-sender for coming Soviet tactics in the Western world--including the U.S., of course.

And from old friends here, who are not professional "spooks" but rather a political Michelin guide to Communist tactics, comes word that the Soviets now plan to paralyze whatever effectiveness is left in the United Nations and its affiliated organizations.

Thus the U.S.S.R. could stall communist mainland China from becoming rehabilitated, rationalized industrially, cleansed of disease, agriculturized so that it could develop more than the meager 20 per cent of the fields which now are arable, whip up huge cadres of skilled workers, and be brought into the modern world of work, all at virtually no cost, all by dint of work by scores of UN commissions.

The cost would be microconmic indeed. At the moment the People's Republic of China is being assessed about 4 per cent of the UN budget--or about $8 million a year.

Thus the Russians reckon the UN, according to Kremlin watchers here, is of greater use to the Communist Chinese than to any other nation. So the tactic will be to attempt to force the world organization into backruptcy -- or to force the U.S. to pay most of the bill. And we already are contributing hundreds of millions of dollars not only to the operation of the glass tower in Manhattan but as much as $300 million for special agencies around the world.

It would not be difficult to destroy the UN financially. It already is the biggest deficit operation since paper money was invented. And mostly because the Soviets and their allies, including Cuba, have withheld paying scores of millions of dollars in dues and assessments sometimes as a matter of "principle" and sometimes just to be cussed.

There is about $143 million due the UN from member nations. Of this the Soviet bloc owes $120 million. Of this about $40 million is due for maintenance of the former UNDF--UN EmergencyForce in the Middle East--and another $53 million for the 1961 Congo operation.

During the past few months the UN Secretary General has repeatedly warned the UN is approaching bankruptcy. On Oct. 6,1971, he told the General Assembly and Administrative Committee that the UN "is, as of now, in a state of near and hopeless insolvency."

And while the Soviet bloc has withheld its payments from the central secretariat funds and assessments on operations ranging from the Suez Canal to a Korean cemetery, the U.S. paid $56.3 million for 1970 or 31.5 per cent of the regualr UN budget. Furthermore, in 1970 America's contributions to specialized agencies totaled over $300 million.

Thus the burden will be thrown on the U.S. and some of its European allies who are hardly enthusiastic over paying out francs, marks or pounds.

Against this panorama the Soviet hypocrisy in the International Labor Organization (ILO) is sharply silhouetted. The U.S. has withheld some $20 million in payments to the ILO because it had become a forum for sharp attacks on America and Israel. In 1970, the Soviet bloc hit us with 34 attacks as "imperialists" in one session. Its work force at the ILO has increased by 350 per cent while our nationals have been frozen.

They revile us there in Geneva. They charge us with sabotage; everything from the study of industrial cancer to starving little children.

Now that the Soviet bloc has been disciplined and we will not have to pay 25 per cent of the ILO bill annually just to hear ourselves assaulted regularly, President Nixon and labor chief George Meany are for payment of our back dues and present assessment. They will be paid. But the Soviets will not pay their arrears anywhere. They want a free ride--or bankruptcy of both the UN and the U.S.

Agnew Hints Of Race For Presidency In '76

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says if he runs for re-election with President Nixon this year, he will be thinking about running for the presidency himself four years hence, the Kansas City Star said today in a copyright story.

"There would be little reason for me to be thinking about running for re-election if I had no thoughts of at least keeping my option open to seek the presidency," Agnew said.

The vice president's views came in an interview with John Chandley, managing editor of the Kansas City Times, and John R. Cauley, and Joe Lastelic of the Star's Washington bureau.

Agnew said his decision as to whether he would accept an invitation from Nixon will wait until if and when the President asks him to be his running mate.

The newspaper also quoted Agnew as saying the Florida primary indicates Gov. George Wallace has nationwide support and that he has become a "new factor" in the battle for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The vice president also expressed belief the candidacy of Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine "is on a severe downhill trail."

"I think it proves without a doubt there is no front runner," Agnew said of results in New Hampshire and Florida. "I'd say the Democratic nomination is wide open. It's pretty hard to predict what's going to happen. We have to watch a few more primaries."

Asked what he viewed as the principal issues of the 1972 election campaign, Agnew replied:

"I think the principal issue that is developing is an underlying issue in definition—the credibility of government.

"This runs through quite a few parts of foreign and domestic policy. What the administration must go to the people with is that what it has been doing has not been duplicitious or evasive, but has been in the best interests of the country."

This, he said, applies to such foreign situations as the China visit and "to such current matters as the I.T.T. controversy."

The other issue, Agnew said, will be the Vietnam War and whether Nixon's plan for ending the war is satisfactory.

HHH Takes Gallup Lead Over Muskie

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — The latest Gallup poll shows Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota as the leading choice of Democratic voters for the party's presidential nomination.

The poll released on Sunday showed Humphrey with the backing of 35 per cent of the Democratic voters surveyed, while runner-up Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine received support from 28 per cent.

The figures do not take into consideration Alabama George C. Wallace, winner of the Democratic primary in Florida last week.

With Wallace in the field, Democratic voters surveyed from March 3 to March 5—prior to the primaries in New Hampshire and Florida—gave Humphrey 31 per cent, Muskie 23 and Wallace 15.

The January poll showed Muskie ahead of Humphrey by 10 per cent and the February poll by 3 per cent.

The preference of March poll respondents on other Democratic candidates:

Wallace, not included—Mayor John V. Lindsay, 8 per cent; Sen. George S. McGovern, 7; Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, 6; Sen. Henry M. Jackson, 5; Rep. Shirley Chisholm, 3; Sen. Vance Hartke, 1; Mayor Sam Yorty, 1; no preference, 6.

Wallace included—Lindsay, 7; McGovern, 6; McCarthy, 5; Jackson, 3; Chisholm, 2; Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, 2; Hartke, 1; no preference, 5.

Nixon Regime Accused Of Tampering With Justice

NEW YORK (AP) — Life magazine charges that the Nixon administration "has seriously tampered with justice in San Diego" in an effort to protect some of its most important friends there from criminal prosecutions. The administration denies the charge.

In an investigative report published Sunday, Life said it had learned that "the administration has in several instances taken steps to neutralize and frustrate its own law-enforcement officials" by delaying prosecutions, curtailing investigations and other means.

The article by Life associate editors Denny Walsh and Tom Flaherty also said that President Nixon personally chose San Diego for the site of the Republican national convention next August and that he considers it his "lucky city."

White House spokesman denied Sunday night that Nixon had had a preference for the convention site. In an interview last July, however, White House communications director Herbert Klein said Nixon favored San Diego.

Life said its investigation, which began last July, disclosed that the administration intervened in three cases, involving C. Arnholt Smith, a long-time friend and financial ally of Nixon; Frank Curran, a former San Diego mayor, and John Alessio, a real estate investor and head of a legal bookmaking operation in Mexico.

The magazene said its probe showed that:

—Harry Steward, U.S.—attorney for Southern California, "squelched" an investigaion of reports that illegal political contributions were being funneled through a company controlled by Smith. Steward had been appointed by Nixon on Smith's recommendation, Life said.

—When former Democratic Mayor Curran was indicted in 1970 for allegedly taking a bribe from a cab firm to help raise taxi fares, the administration refused to let a federal investigator testify for the prosecution.

—During a criminal investigation for tax evasion of Alessio, Smith went to Washington to plead Alessio's case with Nixon, Life said it learned from sources. It said that in an interview Smith denied talking to the President about Alessio.

Within days of Smith's alleged visit with the President, the administration called off its grand jury presentation and sat on the case until the statute of limitations nearly expired on a key portion.

Alleged Massacre In Yemen Hikes Tension

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Forty South Yemen opposition leaders were tricked by the Aden government into reconciliation talks last week and then murdered, the official Saudi Arabian news agency reported today.

It said the alleged massacre has increased tension between the Yemen and South Yemen to "warlike proportions."

Earlier reports said the two countries had closed their common border and put their armed forces on alert.

The agency said the victims belonged to the Front for the Liberation of Occupied South Yemen—FLOSY—headed by labor leader Abdulla Asnag and former Premier Abdul Kawi Mekkawi.

Leaders of the front went into exile in neighboring Yemen when Aden won independence from Britain in 1967 and became the People's Republic of South Yemen under the rival Marxist National Liberation Front party.

Asnag eventually became foreign minister of Yemen, while Mekkawi operated FLOSY's activities from headquarters in the twin Yemen capital of Tai'z, according to the agency.

It said the 40 FLOSY leaders left Tai'z last week for a reconciliation meeting in the South Yemen border town of Sbeiha.

Ann Landers

Beard Grows and Grows and Grows

Dear Ann Landers: My brother started to grow a beard two years ago when he was 19. It looked rather attractive when it was sort of a Van Dyke but now it's somewhat mangy. My mother has been after him to trim it but he says he wants to see how long it will get. Mom says it won't grow more than another few inches — down to the middle of his chest — because when a beard reaches a certain length, it stops growing. According to her it's nature's way of keeping beards from becoming dangerously long. Mom must be right because I've never seen a beard grow longer than the middle of a man's chest. Please explain how hair stop growing. — Beardologist At Berkley

Dear Beardologist: Mom is wrong. Hair keeps growing, although the rate varies among individuals. For most people, it's about half an inch per month, whether you cut it or not. Back in 1877 a man named Phillip Henson let his beard grow for 10 years. He was six feet, two inches tall. His beard reached the carpet and dragged for about six inches. So far as I know, this was the world's longest beard. I hope your brother doesn't try to break Mr. Henson's record.

Dear Ann Landers: A few months ago a close friend told me that last year my husband had a young child by a married woman. Her husband believes the child is his.

We have three children. My husband's cheating is an old story, but news of this child came as a shock to me. It is almost too much to bear. I lie awake nights wondering what kind of man he is. How can he ignore this youngster? It makes him seem like some kind of monster.

Should I tell him I know, and insist that he see the child? I started to say something to him at Christmas but I didn't have the courage. Should I go to the woman and demand that she tell her husband the truth? I really don't hate her, but sometimes I hate myself for staying with a man who is so hardhearted. Divorce is out of the question. Our three children need him — and he is a good father. What should I do, Ann? — Insomnia

Dear In: Do nothing. You have no evidence that the story you heard is true. Put this episode out of your mind and don't discuss it with anyone. According to law the woman's husband is the father to her child. A married lover's confession would add nothing except confusion and misery for two families. The "friend" who gave you the word is NO friend.

Dear Ann Landers: Your reply to the cheated on wife who wanted to phone her friend 2,000 miles away and tell her that Hubby just confessed they had slept together 13 years ago, stank.

You said it would accomplish nothing except to make her husband look like a jerk. Your notion that it didn't matter because it happened 13 years ago shows how little you know about human nature. Hubby had his fun. Why shouldn't the cheated on wife enjoy the pleasure of telling the tramp off? You have no idea what this would do for her ego. I know what I'm talking about because I made such a phone call two years ago — on a hunch. And I was right. The dame confessed, apologized all over the place and thanked me for calling. That call lifted my spirits and I was in a state of exhilaration for two weeks. Reverse yourself, kiddo. — Eye for An Eye

Dear Eye: Thanks for telling us about your cheap trip. It's amazing what some people consider entertainment.

Drug Workshop In Kentucky

Vanguard Theatre To Play in SEMO Towns

DEXTER — Over a dozen actors and technicians. along with two station wagons and a van packed full of scenery, costumes, props and electrical equipment, left Kansas City Feb. 29.

The small caravan will carry Missouri Vanguard Theatre over 4,000 miles to 25 towns and cities in the state. Numbered among their stops will be Dexter New Madrid, and Caruthersville.

The story of Tartuffe, Moliere's brilliant comedy, is an hilarious one. Take one con man, masquerading as a pious minister, mix in a nagging mother-in-law a saucy maid, and a gullible rich man, who almost turns over his wife, daughter, house and fortune , house and fortune to the phony preacher, and you have a recipe for a laugh-filled evening for the family.

Giles Fowler, Drama Editor of the Kansas City Star, had this to say when he reviewed the production of Tartuffe shortly before the 1972 tour "Missouri Vanguard's "Tartuffee" is simply choice. At reaching into the sense of Moliere's glorious comedy, it is the most successful "Tartuffee" I have ever seen--a credit to the touring company from the University of Missouri, Kansas City, and a gift of pleasure to its audiences around the state."

As a benefit of the paid evening performance, the local schools will have six special programs in the afternoon, including a puppet story hour at the elementary schools and a junior and senior high school assembly program "The Trysting Place" by Booth Tarkington. These are at no cost to students or schools.

"Tartuffe will be presented at Dexter Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Dexter high school auditorium. This performance is sponosored by the Arts and humanities committee and co-sponsored by the Missouri State Council on the Arts and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Stoddard County Patrons of the arts and humanities for 1972 will be admitted free. Tickets may be bought at the door.

The play will be presented at Caruthersville high school Friday at 7:30 p.m. and at New Madrid high school at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Former Cards Deal Blows

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cards—or, rather, the ex-Cards—were stacked Sunday in favor of the Philadelphia Phillies.

And when the Phils were through playing with their loaded deck, they had trumped St. Louis 7-1 in an exhibition baseball game on the strength of three aces—former Cardinals Steve Carlton, Willie Montanez and Tim McCarver.

Carlton, traded from St. Louis to Philadelphia last month, denied he was fired up at facing his ex-mates for the first time, but he hurled six innings, allowing one run.

Montanez, one of two players the Phillies acquired from St. Louis two years ago as compensation for Curt Flood's failure to report, lashed out two doubles and a single, driving in four runs. McCarver, acquired in the Flood-Richie Allen deal, doubled home Philadelphia's first run and added two singles.

Elsewhere, the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates swept a three-game series from the Cincinnati Reds in Venezuela, winning Sunday 8-1 after two shutouts. Bob Johnson hurled 5 1-3 perfect innings, Bob Robertson drove in four runs with two hits a sacrifice fly and Richie Zisk homered.

The Los Angeles Dodgers rapped out 14 hits and Willie Crawford and ,Bill Buckner combined for five RBI in an 8-5 triumph over the Houston Astros.

Orlando Cepeda's two-run homer off Gary Gentry helped the Atlanta Braves beat the New York Mets 3-1 and Sam McDowell pitched six strong innings and smacked a two-run double as the San Francisco Giants edged the Chicago Cubs 32.

The Minnesota Twins scored an unearned run in the ninth inning on Doug Griffin's throwing error and nipped the Boston Red Sox 5-4 and Jim Panther, acquired in the Denny McLain trade, pitched three scoreless innings in the Texas Rangers' 8-6 conquest of the Kansas City Royals.

Milt Wilcox checked California on one run over six innings and the Cleveland Indians topped the Angels 4-1. Three RBI each by Dave Campbell and Larry Stahl powered the San Diego Padres over the Milwaukee Brewers 14-7.

The Oakland A's downed the Lotte Orions of the Japanese League 9-3 while the BaltimoreMontreal and Detroit-New York Yankees games were rained out.

Dust control measures were initiated during World War II for operational and health reasons. The World Almanac notes that reduction of dust was credited with quadrupling the life of airplane motors and helped prevent accidents caused by locked brakes and delicate instrument malfunctions.

Court Begins Anti-Trust Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today took up Curt Flood's suit against organized baseball.

Former Justice Arthur J. Goldberg, in arguments prepared for a one-hour hearing, contended that the contract that binds a player to one team directly violates antitrust laws.

Goldberg, representing the former St. Louis Cardinal centerfielder, urged the court to reverse a 1922 decision that exempted baseball from laws regulating interstate commerce. He said the ruling was an anachronism.

But Paul A. Porter, a Washington attorney, and Louis L. Hoynes Jr., a New York lawyer, cautioned that the reserve system is the cornerstone of baseball.

Without it, they said, the wealthiest teams in the largest cities would attract the best players, destroying baseball's competitive balance.

Backed by the players' union, Flood brought his damage suit against baseball after the Cardinals traded him to the Philadelphia Phillies in 1969. He wanted to be made a "free agent," at liberty to play for a team of his choosing.

At the very least, Goldberg said, baseball should give players the limited freedom of action provided in football, basketball, hockey and other sports.

In his brief Goldberg argued baseball "is big business" and ought to be treated as such.

"The Sherman Act has long prohibited businessmen from entering into concerted agreements to eliminate competition among themselves in the procurement of commodities essential to their businesses. And businessmen are plainly prohibited by the act from utilizing concerted refusals to deal, or group boycotts.

"There is little question but that organized baseball's reserve system falls squarely within these per se proscriptions."

Porter and Hoynes said Flood's complaint is fundamentally a labor-management dispute and any change should be worked out by the ballplayers' union and the club-owners.

"There is a blend of competition and partnership among the clubs in baseball which would be both unnecessary and improper in the normal business world."

A final decision by the justices is expected before the end of June.

Have you noticed how many young families get carried away with Chevelle?

They get carried away to lands of history and fantasy like Six Flags Over Georgia, enjoying a ride as soft as cotton candy and handling as precise as if their Chevelles were on rails.

We built quality into Chevelle from one end of its mid-size wheelbase to the other because we want it to be the best car you ever owned. For example, we put Full Coil suspension and cushions of rubber between the frame and body to keep noise out of the passenger compartment. Plus a sturdy steel guard beam in every door, double panels in the door, in the hood, in the deck lid. And up inside the fenders—inner fenders that help protect against corrosion.

There's also an engine that operates on regular, no-lead or low-lead fuel, a battery with sealed terminals on the side so corrosion won't build up and a new front seat belt system that reminds you to buckle up.

Just try a Chevelle once and even those "wild indians" at Six Flags couldn't tear you away from it. Have fun.

Offensive Help On the Way....

HONOLULU (AP) — The National Football League's Competition Committee, having concluded deliberations on the island of Maui, was ready today to set before the assembled NFL owners suggestions for rules changes that might significantly alter the nature of the game.

The Competition Committee has been examining the balance between offense and defense — a balance that appears to have been tilted in favor of defensive forces—with an eye toward suggesting prossible remedies for the situation.

It is a critical decision for the NFL ownership, which has witnessed during the last two years a dropoff in scoring of more than 100 touchdowns—a fact that some believe threatens the popularity of the sport.

Besides possible proposals aimed at aiding offenses, the owners also are likely to have placed before them two proposals on sudden death—one aimed at changing its nature and the other aimed at making it mandatory for all tie games.

Also on the agenda is selection of a site for Super Bowl VII next January, the ticklish subject of the Chicago All-Star game, several proposals to amend the constituion and various committee reports.

The rules, however, are the major item on the agenda—for there appears to be considerable concern about the nosedive in scoring attributed to constantly improving defenses.

In the weeks prior to their private sessions, the Competition Committee composed of Paul Brown of Cincinnati, Tex Schramm of Dallas, Jim Finks of Minnesota and Al Davis of Oakland, tangled with a host of suggestions put forward for their consideratin.

Among them were proposals for increasing the value of the touchdown, cutting down on field goals as a means of forcing teams to continue drives, pinning defensive lineman down rather than permitting continued movement, and a suggestion that the field be widened.

While all were of a technical nature, the purpose was singular—more scoring.

The proposals involving sudden death were in another category. The one suggesting that all games tied at the end of regulation play be continued in sudden death seemed doomed to defeat.

But serious consideration likely will be given proposals to change the nature of sudden death, in effect for all post-season action.

The proposals were aimed at preventing a situation in which a team wins the coin flip prior to sudden death and then immediately drives for a field goal that wins the game, without the opposition ever getting the ball.

There was a strong feeling that determining the outcome of a game by that means—almost as a result of winning the coin flip—left something to be desired. There have been several alternatives proposed.

Selection of a Super Bowl site was expected to be decided Tuesday. The likely candidates were Miami, New Orleans and Los Angeles—al previous hosts,—Dallas, Houston, Palo Alto, Calif., and possibly Kansas City and Jacksonvile, Fla.

The Chicago All-Star game is up for discussion, with the 1972 game the last of the current contract. There appeared to be some sentiment to either doing away with the game or finding a more suitable game than a match-up between the Super Bowl champs and College AllStars.

Stewart Top Coach

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Norm Stewart, who has guided Missouri to improved seasons each of the five years he has been coach, was named Saturday Big Eight Conference basketball coach of the year.

Stewart, 36, won the honor in voting of sports writers and sportscasters. He beat out Jack Hartman, who coached Kansas State to the Big Eight championship.

During the regular season, Stewart's Tigers carved a record of 21 victories and five defeats and earned an invitation to play in the National Invitation Tournament in New York's Madison Square Garden.

Vincennes Takes JUCO Championship

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — Vincennes, Ind., Junior College proved Saturday night a basketball team doesn't have to be one of giants to win.

The Indiana team had the shortest club in the National Junior College Tournament and won the championship by beating Ferrum, Va., 73-61.

Gulf Coast of Panama City, Fla., defeated Tyler, Tex., 85-81 for third place. Southern Idaho won fourth by whipping Casper, Wyo., 73-72, and Arizona Western took fifth by trimming host Hutchinson 99-94 in overtime. Casper finished seventh and Hutchinson eighth in the 16team tourney.

Vincennes, cold early in the game and trailing 17-9, grabbed the lead on Tony Byers' 20-foot shot and led at the half 32-31. It was never even again.

Byers was the game's high scorer with 23 points. Ferrum's top scorer was Clarence Walker with 21.

An overflow crowd of nearly 200 was on hand Friday night to honor the Sikeston Junior Babe Ruth All-Stars for their 1971 accomplishments on the diamond.

The 13-15 year old stars, who claimed the state title and placed second in the midwest plains regional at Belle Plains, Minn., were awarded trophies and certificates for their accomplishments.

Sam Harbin, Sikeston public school superintendent, was the master of ceremonies for the hour and a half gathering.

Southeast Missouri District Babe Ruth baseball commissioner Bob Ralph, presented the players and coaches with trophies while Sikeston city Junior Babe Ruth President Arthur Bruce made the certificate presentations.

A letter from Don Jones, state Babe Ruth baseball president, was read by Harbin, It lauded the All-Stars for their play and representation of Missouri in the Mid-West Plains regional. Other congratulatory letters were read.

The meal of chicken, baked beans, and creamed potatoes with coffee or Coke and ice cream were donated by Sikeston businesses. American Legion members gave their services as cooks.

Ralph laid out the plans for this season's state, regional and national tournaments in junior Babe Ruth. Joplin will host the state event, Fargo, N.D., will entertain teams in the regional and Pine Bluff, Ark., will host the world series. Chaffee will host the 13-year-old state tournament.

The All-Stars accomplishments through the district, state and regional tournaments were outlined. Sikeston beat back New Madrid, Charleston, Tri-County and West Plains in the district and beat Houston, Jefferson City before losing its first game to Joplin and then returning to beat Lebanon and Joplin in a double header.

The Stars lost their opening game in the regional to McPherson, Kan., but battled back to eliminate South Dakota, Colorado, North Dakota, and Kansas before losing to St. Paul, in the final.

Bruce gave a brief resume of the season and noted the cooperation of the parents, players, coaches and sponsors in making it a successful campaign.

The need for expansion of the league was also noted by Bruce.

"A number of boys failed to get in uniform last year because of the lack of teams," Bruce noted. "We need to add at least two teams this season."

John Farris was honored for hurling a no-hit, no-run game last season in league play. He was given a certificate for his accomplishment.

Approximately 250 Advance citizens turned out at the high school gymnasium for a community supper Saturday night to honor the Hornets basketball team which captured the State class S championship March 4 at Rolla.

Coach Carroll Cookson was introduced with the players and the school cheer leaders.

Guests were Bill Reynolds of KFVS Radio in Cape Girardeau, Bob Barks and wife of the Advance News, the Rev. John Heitman, and Bill Harrison and wife of the Daily Standard.

Reynolds congratulated the team on the sportsmanship that was displayed in the finals of the tournament. Barks unveiled a new sign, which will be erected at the city intersection indicating the home of the class S champions and has Coach Cookson and Assistant Coach Kirkpatrick's name along with each name of the winning team.

Harrison presented each player with the team managers a Daily Standard certificate for being the number one team in the area.

The Daily Standard sports panel of coaches selected the newspaper All-Star, All-Academic and final top ten teams Saturday. The results of their voting will be announced Friday.

Advance and its coach, Carroll Cookson, have been singled out by the paper as the receipients of the number one team award and coach of the year honor restictively.

This marks the fifth year that the paper has honored the top 15 players for their skill, ability and academic work.

Mizzou Loses Tourney Opener

NEW YORK (AP) — Coach Norm Stewart of Missouri says the Tigers lost to St. John's, N.Y., in the National Invitation Tournament Saturday night in overtime because "we couldn't do the things that have been good to us."

The score was 82-81.

"We've been able to protect the leads and make the free throws and not make the mistakes," Stewart notes. "You can't make mistakes and play this game."

Missouri blew a 46-38 halftime advantage. The Tigers had chances in the overtime period but threw them away.

Mike Griffin, for example, stole the ball with 2:53 left in the overtime and scored on a layup only to be called for traveling.

"We stilkl had a lead," Stewart points out, "which we threw away. You can't make mistakes and play. We did that tonight. We wanted to keep the basketball, score or get the foul shot. Keep the ball."

The Tigers had a 77-75 lead with 3:13 left in overtime and an 81-78 margin with 2:18 showing.

Missouri lost its big man, John Brown, who fouled out with 2:40 left.

Greg Flaker led the Tigers in scoring with 27 points. Brown collected 21 and had 12 rebounds. Sophomore Al Eberhard, who made 10 points, grabbed 11 rebounds.

Misouri Matched St. John's in field goals, losing at the free throw line where the Tigers made 17 of 26. St. John's made 18 of 26 at the charity line, and that was the difference.

HEROD ANTIPAS

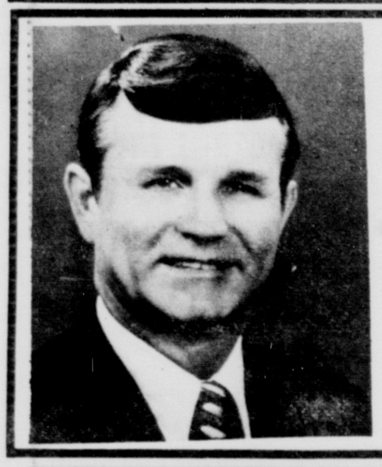

The leading personality in public circles during the lifetime of Jesus was the son of Herod the Great. Called Herod Antipas, he was Tetrarch of Galilee and Peraea and ambitious for political advancement.

St. Luke tells us that Antipas was "perplexed" about Jesus and had some hope of meeting Him. As the Master's popularity grew, so did the rumors that Antipas would have Him murdered, just as he destroyed John the Baptist. John had preached against the foul life of the Herod household.

On Good Friday, Antipas had a brief interrogation of the Lord, hoping for a miracle or some amusing answer to his insulting questions. Getting neither, St. Luke adds that "Herod and his troops treated him with contempt and ridicule, and sent Him back to Pilate dressed in a gorgeous robe." An enemy of Jesus, he became an enemy of all people, eventually including his Roman supervisors who could no longer accept his playboy regency and banished him to Gaul.

Malden Acts To Improve Downtown

MALDEN — The Malden Inner City Business Association asked the Malden city council Monday night to cooperate with it in an effort to improve downtown Malden.

A delegation of merchants and property owners presented the Council with a list of suggestions for immediate and long range consideration.

John Howell, spokesman for the group, said that every town must have a core or center from which to grow and that the downtown area is the core of Malden. He said that the city administration has a stake in the downtown area as well as merchants and property owners. He cited figures to prove his point.

He said that of the $18,652.50 personal taxes paid to the City of Malden in 1971 that $6,875.70 or about one-third was from commercial personal taxes from the four-block area of downtown Malden. About one- fourth of the $46,852.75 in real estate taxes or $10,574.15 came from the same area. Add to this $4,042.50 in merchants tax and $15,132.50 in merchants license the total income to the City of Malden from the downtown area was $36,624.85. Howell said that growth is sought and not deterioration. He said that revitalizing the downtown area must be a united effort as it is a mutual problem.

He then listed the following suggestions for immediate consideration by the Council.

1. Eliminate free parking areas on the streets. He cited as examples the two banks, taxi stands, etc. He said that many merchants and many customers resented the fact that some business firms had free parking spaces and others didn't.

2. Change parking meters from the present five cents and ten cents so that pennies can be used. He said that the MICBA had found that many people resented having to put a nickel i the meter to park for possibly oniy ten minutes. The MICB urges the change back to a penny and enforcement.

3. Clean up sidewalk and curb area in front of the ruins of the E. C. Robinson Lumber Company as it is not only an eyesore, but a hazard.

4. Blacktop the alley from Main Street to the railroad that runs behind many of the main business firms. This is the alley that runs behind Norrid City Drug, Sears, Malden State BAnk, etc.

5. Take whatever immediate action is necessary to force E. C. Robinson Lumber Company to clean up the ruins left from last summer's fire.

Long term consideration:

1. Repair sidewalks and curbs where needed.

2. Pave (blacktop) city parking lot next to City Hall and mark it off for parking. This will allow greater use by motorists.

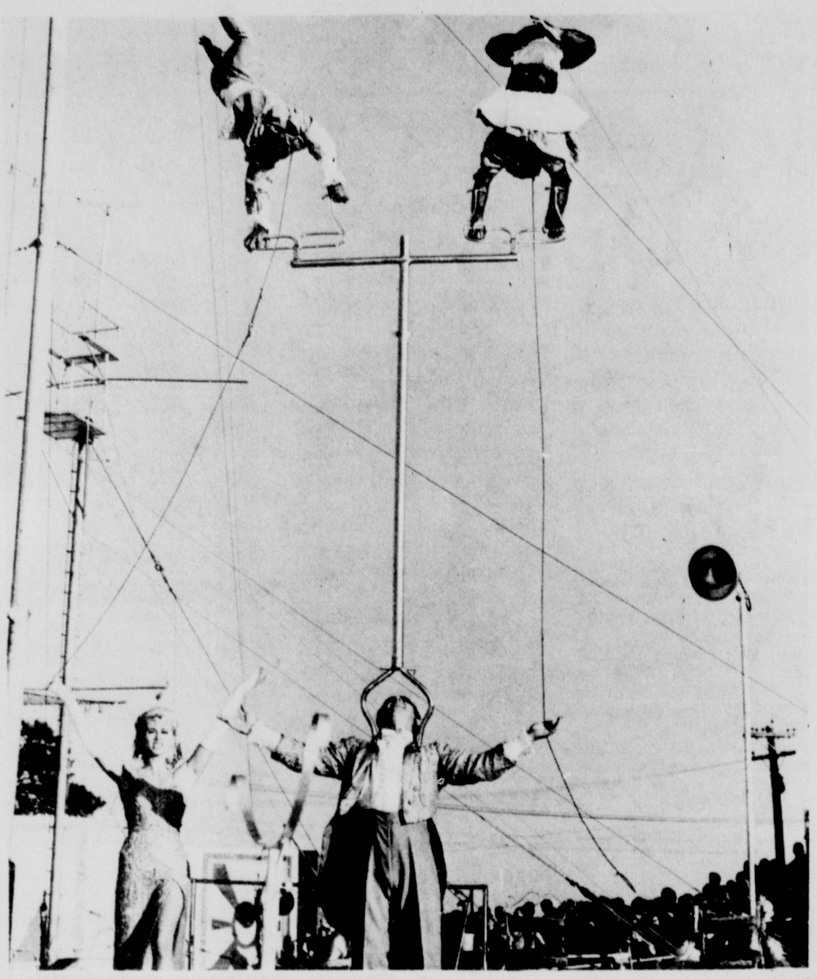

3. Purchase the E. C. Robinson Lumber Company property for an additional parking lot to serve the needs of the downtown area.

4. Pass a zoning ordinance for the entire city and enforce it, as Malden will not be eligible for urban renewal grants until this is done.

5. Reroute Highway 25 from Main Street to Laclede Street in order to get the flow of traffic away from the two main business blocks.

6. Consider a shopping mall concept for the downtown area.

Mayor Davis expressed his thanks to the group for their suggestions and said that the Council would give them consideration.

THE ROYAL-HUNGARIA TROUPE, from Budapest, Hungary, is a acrobatic act. Somersaulting feet to feet and a three high pyramid feet to feet is two of the feats performed by the troupe. The troupe have appeared in many of the country's top circuses after an extended engagement with the Ringling Brothers Circus. It has appeared on many talent shows on television and has finished a tour of major Canadian sport shows. It will be one of the many attractions at the Shrine Circus in Sikeston Friday and Saturday with performances starting at 1 p.m. and 8 p.m. at the high school field house.

LEGISLATURE BOGGED DOWN UNDER HEAVY WORK LOAD

JEFFERSON CITY -- The Legislature hasn't taken Gov. Warren E. Hearnes's advice.

In his opening address to the General Assembly more than two months ago, the governor warned lawmakers to concentrate on major pieces of legislation and not get "bogged down" in a heavy workload of minor bills.

But when the four- month legislative session passed the two- thirds mark last week, calendars were jammed with minor bills and passage of many major pieces of legislation seemed doubtful.

The problem is particularly acute in the House where more than 700 bills were carried over from last year's session and where many measures of statewide importance are stuck on the calendar behind hundreds of bills. To correct this, a special House calendar was set up to give priority to important bills and allow them at least a chance for debate and final action this session.

The problem of too many bills in too short a session is compounded since the state just doesn't have the money to initiate any costly new programs. Bills such as those to provide scholarship grants to students in private and public colleges and to increase state aid to indigent nursing home patients probably will fail because the Legislature can't find the millions necessary to implement the programs.

A final reason for the slow-motion session could be the most important: Elections come soon after the Legislature adjourns April 30, and there is a general legislative wariness to move quickly on any new programs.

Nevertheless, the Legislature is expected to act on at least four of the so- called "musts" it was given this session. The only failure has been in drawing a Congressional redistricting plan which was done by a federal court after several legislative attempts stalled.

One "must" bill already has been signed by the governor and will put the state in compliance with federal unemployment compensation guidelines.

The Legislature also is busy hammering out compromises to bring the state into compliance with federal billboard regulations and to provide a method of providing court defense to indigents.

Passage of the billboard bill is necessary by March 31 if the state is to avoid losing about $11.5 million in federal road funds next year, and a public defender system is required since the state Supreme Court ruled that after Sep 10 it would not require court-appointed lawyers to defend indigents without pay.

Also moving toward passage is the final "must" measure -- a state budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1. The House has approved a $1.8 billion budget, but the Senate is expected to slice about $20 million from it. The final version probably will be thrashed out in a Senate - House conference committee as was the case last year.

What's the Law

Single Bedroom Law Held Invalid

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

With the cost of living steadily going up and its residents being hit by everything but falling prices, town officials passed a zoning ordinance that was intended to at least stabilize, to some extent. the local tax situation?.

New apartment houses were primarily limited to one-bedroom units. The idea was that one-bedroom would discourage tenants from having children. No additional schools would be needed and no additional taxes would be required to build them. It was all very logical to the town officials, but it wasn't very logical to Mr. Nemerdinkle, a builder.

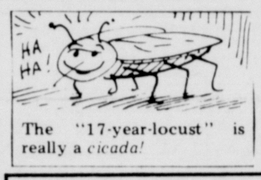

"That's not a building ordinance," he argued, "it's a contraceptive ordinance. You can no more restrict people from having children than you can stop me from building mulit-bedroom apartments to accommodate them. And, in this area, local employees need multi-bedroom apartments."

"You're a builder," answered the town officials, "so you don't care about anything except putting up your building. But the rest of us need some relief from rising taxes and expenses. They're the only things that seem to defy the law of gravity."

Determined to invalidate the zoning ordinance, Mr. Nemerdinkle took the matter to court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you uphold the legality of the "contraceptive" ordinance?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that there is a right to live as a family and not be subject to a legal limitation on the number of members of that family in order to reside in a particular place. Where the effect of a zoning ordinance is to restrict a town population to adults and to exclude children, concluded the judge, the ordinance violates the equal protection clause of the Constitution. (Based upon a 1971 New Jersey Superior Court Decision)

The "17-year-locust" is really a cicada!

Check your gas flame.

It may be trying to tell you something.

If the burners on your range are clean and properly adjusted, the gas should burn with a clear blue flame and a sharply defined inner cone. If there are traces of yellow, the burner holes may have become clogged with food particles and should be cleaned. If the yellow persists, burner adjustment may be necessary.

Keeping your gas range operating efficiently improves its performance and saves gas – which saves you money. After all, why waste a good thing?

Dear Editor,

I read most recently an article from your publication stating that the only opposition to the proposed 10% or greater discriminatory tax on carbonated soft drinks was from bottling organizations, retailers, and landowner organizations.

I am enclosing a list of the many business, labor, and civic organizations that are opposing this proposed tax. The list shows that many great organizations other than the ones previously mentioned are in opposition. The Missouri Farm Bureau Federation, Associated Industries of Missouri. Missouri Ice Cream & Milk Institute, and the Missouri State Labor council, AFL-CIO are formidable with large memberships and do not have any connection with the carbonated soft drink industry.

It is hoped that the enclosed list will be published for the information of your readership.

Sincerely,
R. E. Dallmeyer, Jr.

Symphony Will Play On April 12

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- The appearance of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra this spring at Southeast Missouri State College has been moved forward to April 12 and a concert by the College Choir, scheduled for March 21 has been postponed.

Doyle Dumas, associate professor of music and director of the choir, said the concert will be rescheduled later. It was postponed, he said, because members of the choir and other choral students at the college will perform with the symphony.

The symphony concert will be at 8 p.m. April 12 at the Arena Building.

On April 11 principal members of the symphony will conduct clinics for selected college and high school musicians.

Economics Grant For Cape State

CAPE GIRARDEAU — A $6,193 grant for an in- service institute in basic economics has been awarded to Southeast Missouri State College by the National Science Foundation.

The grant provides funds for a two- course sequence to be conducted one evening a week during the 1972-73 academic year. The institute will be open to social studies and business education teachers and other secondary school personnel with curriculum responsibilities, according to Dr. Wayne F. Ewbank, head of the social science department at Southeast Missouri State.

Dr. Ewbank is also the local director of the institute, which is one of six around the state being coordinated by the University of Missouri Extension Division. He and Dr. Gerald Giesler, assistant professor of social science, will teach the courses to be given at Southeast Missouri State.

Institute applicants must have a teaching certificate and at least one year of teaching experience.

Court Refuses To Force MU To Collect City Tax

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri Supreme Court has declined to force the University of Missouri to collect the Columbia City sales tax.

The court en banc denied the city's petition for a writ of mandamus against the university but said the city could attempt in some other fashion to force the university to act.

It did not specify what legal avenue the city should take.

ONE BY ONE

From the hoop skirt to the mini. From "scooby-do" to "groovy." From the Charleston to hard rock.

One by one, old ways give way to the new, and the continuing argument is waged as to which are better.

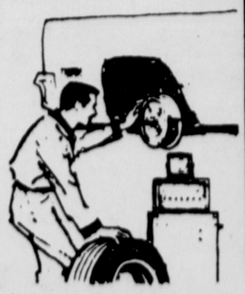

Funeral service, too, must constantly change --- remaining flexible enough to meet the highly varied wishes of all people, whether "traditional" or "mod" or somewhere in between.

We recognize and respect the individuality of all who call us.
